

Navy Not Canceling Maneuvers

U.S.-Turk Test Is No Greek Concern

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy officials considered postponing 6th Fleet maneuvers with Turkey in view of the touchy Cyprus situation. But they decided to go ahead to avoid heightening the crisis atmosphere.

This was disclosed by informed sources today as defense officials pictured the U.S.-Turkish exercises in the Aegean Sea area as routine.

Authorities stressed that "we talked to the Greeks and the Turks talked to the Greeks, and nobody is concerned."

This appeared to square with the feelings of the Greek government.

Greece Not Worried

In Athens, Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Costopoulos said Monday night that Greece was not worried about the U.S.-Turkish naval exercises.

Costopoulos said that as part of regular North Atlantic Treaty Organization drills, U.S. and Greek naval units would work out together later this month.

Pentagon sources said that in addition there will be joint naval maneuvers involving the U.S. 6th Fleet, the Greeks and the Turks at a later time.

It was learned that Vice Adm. William E. Genthner Jr., commander of the powerful 6th Fleet, had checked with Washington his decision to go ahead with the U.S.-Turkish drills.

Clear Decision

Genthner's decision was concurred with by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze and Adm. David McDonald, the chief of naval operations, informants said.

The last thing the Navy wants is to have to mix into a family quarrel between two U.S. allies, Greece and Turkey. The 50-ship 6th Fleet moves all over the Mediterranean and adjacent waters, but it concentrates most of its operations in the eastern Mediterranean.

Navy officials said the U.S.-Turkish exercises are small-scale affairs involving only three or four ships of each nation.

Kingston, County Aid Would Rise On New Formula

The City of Kingston would receive an increase of $32,186 in per capita state aid for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1965, if a report just filed by the Temporary State Commission on Per Capita Aid is enacted into law. The county's towns and localities would receive a total increase of $189,084.

Bills to implement the commission's recommendations for increase in state per capita aid to localities were introduced in the legislature last week.

If approved by the legislature and the governor, the increase of $20.8 million in the state would remain in effect one year, pending development of a permanent plan during the coming year.

Under the present law Ulster County receives $550,827 and the City of Kingston receives $197,505. Under the proposed formula the county would receive at total per capita state aid of $739,917 for the year, including $229,691 for the City of Kingston.

Republican Senators Brighten Prospects for More School Aid

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A quiet uprising by Republican senators brightened prospects today that the Legislature would vote a state aid for education this year.

Although Gov. Rockefeller said yesterday that he considered the school-aid question a closed issue, GOP legislative leaders believed he would sign an aid bill "no tax boost were required."

The objective now is to cut enough from other areas of Rockefeller's $2.92-billion budget to provide for a substantial increase in assistance for the public schools.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said fiscal tatters were busy digging into the budget. He expected to have fresh recommendations to present to GOP senators tomorrow. Up to this point, the clamor for more school aid had been loudest in the Assembly, scene of many previous budget revolts. The Senate uprising came as something of a surprise.

Mahoney went into the GOP majority conference with proposals for token cuts in the budget running around $12 million, as a gesture toward economy. But several senators insisted that the fiscal experts try to come up with an additional $12 million or $13 million in budget cuts and divert the entire sum to school aid.

Assembly Speaker Joseph E. Carlino, who has been leading a school-aid drive by New York suburban-area legislators, declared he was "delighted" by the Senate development.

He postponed an Assembly majority conference on the budget, pending an evaluation of the Senate picture.

In other developments:

The Legislature's Democratic leaders sought to force a floor vote today on Democratic school-aid bills identical to GOP measures also lodged in committee. The idea was to make Republicans stand up and be counted on the issue.

Mahoney said he was arranging for an independent audit of the books of the New York Racing Association, the Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga race tracks. A Democratic senator has accused association trustees of "the gravest kind of conflicts of interest."

Rockefeller told his news conference yesterday that his budget was so "tight" he could not grant Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr.'s request for a special $10-million fund to help ease problems of racial imbalance in the schools. But Rockefeller said Allen might get part of the money.

Precedent for Replacement

Ruby Judge Taken Ill, Return Is Uncertain

DALLAS (AP)—Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown, presiding at the murder trial of Jack Ruby, became ill and was sent home today by the doctor. However, another judge took his place.

Awfully Bad Cold

Judge Brown said from his home, "I've got an awfully bad cold and the doctor told me to stay in bed."

The judge said Judge J.

Frank Wilson, another judge of a court dealing in criminal cases, probably would take Brown's place.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade told newsmen there is ample precedent in Texas law for replacing a judge during a trial. As for the possibility of Judge Brown surrendering the bench for a time and then returning to it, Wade said that to his knowledge that has never occurred in Texas.

Never Happened Before

Asked if Brown's substitute would be a permanent replacement, Wade replied, "There's a possibility of that."

Asked about Judge Brown being in position to take over the case again when he gets well, Wade repeated that has never happened in Texas before. "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," Wade said.

There was no indication how long Judge Brown, 55, would be away from the case, which today was still in the jury selection stage after two weeks and two days.

A roaring dispute over a "fact sheet on epilepsy" and charges of efforts to "contaminate" prospective jurors delayed jury selection Monday.

Still Need Two

The total persons examined for the jury goes to 150 this morning when hearings resume. Eight men and two women have been accepted, leaving two jurors to be found.

Ruby is on trial for the Nov. 24 shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, in Dallas. Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade says he will demand death in the electric chair for Ruby.

Ruby's attorneys will plead that he suffers from psychomotor epilepsy and was temporarily insane when he killed Oswald.

Thus, a pamphlet issued by the National Epilepsy League, and distributed outside the courtroom, brought cries of "grossest conspiracy to obstruct justice," "contempt of court," and "trying to contaminate prospective jurors" from Ruby's chief counsel, Melvin Belli, Monday.

He demanded a mistrial which was denied.

The uproar, which delayed questioning of jury candidates, began when the pamphlets with a covering letter appeared in the courtroom. They had been given to newsmen.

Didn't Reach Jury

Belli insisted the pamphlets were meant not for newsmen primarily, but for prospective

Rocky to Launch Windup Drive in N.H. Wednesday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller will open Wednesday his final and most intensive effort to win the New Hampshire presidential - preference primary, first official test in pre-convention maneuvering for the Republican presidential nomination.

The governor will campaign in New Hampshire throughout the last six days before the March 10 primary, concentrating on more populous areas.

Position Improves

Rockefeller's position has improved considerably in recent weeks and practically all observers say he has gained much ground on Sen. Barry Goldwater, who was far in front when the campaign began.

But the Rockefeller forces remain uncertain about the effect on the race of write-in campaigns for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Richard M. Nixon, former vice president.

No Poll Agreement

The governor has declined to agree with various polls showing that he either is ahead or moving ahead in the race.

"I really can't tell," he said at a news conference Monday when asked whether he had lost the underdog role he adopted at the outset of the campaign.

As for the polls indicating he is moving up, "It isn't what's in those reports that's important. It's what the voters of New Hampshire do on March 10."

Two additions were made Monday to the Rockefeller schedule:

A news conference today in Washington, D. C., for the issuance of what his office described as "a statement of major importance." The topic was not announced.

A flight from New Hampshire to New York City on Thursday morning to attend the funeral of the wife of Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Expecting Cyprus to Consent

Small Nations Set Peace Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cyprus was expected to give its approval today to a new small-nation proposal authorizing U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant to send an international peace force to the Mediterranean island.

The compromise formula, worked out by five of the six elected members of the U.N. Security Council, was presented to the 11-nation council Monday by Brazilian delegate Carlos Alfredo Bernardes.

Calls for Mediator

The resolution also called for Thant to name a mediator to help solve the constitutional crisis that has brought the Greek and Turkish Cypriots nearly to civil war.

Acceptance by Cyprus was regarded as the key to the plan's success. It faced a possible Soviet veto unless it met the approval of Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus.

Neither the Cyprus nor the Soviet delegation would comment on the resolution. Sources close to the Greek Cypriots said they believed Makarios would go along.

Drafted by Five

The resolution was drafted by Brazil, Norway, Ivory Coast, Morocco and Bolivia.

The main obstacle had not been the proposed international force, but finding a way to meet conflicting demands of Cyprus and Turkey on how to refer to a 1960 treaty guaranteeing the Cypriot constitution.

The treaty gave Britain, Turkey and Greece the right to intervene to preserve the constitution, which grants the Turkish Cypriot minority veto rights that Makarios wants to do away with. Cyprus wanted all reference to this treaty omitted and insisted on a Security Council guarantee for the territorial integrity of the island republic as protection against invasion by Turkey.

The formula for the international force is similar to that sought by Britain and the United States from the start. The secretary - general would work out with the parties concerned the composition of the force. He would appoint its commander and the commander would report to him. Thant would report to the Security Council, but the council would not control the force.

Plans $500-Million Construction

Federal Tax Cut Could Help Phone Expansion

The New York Telephone Company reported today, March 3, that it plans to apply its federal income tax reduction towards a 50 million dollar addition to its construction program over the next three years. This would come on top of the construction expenditures already scheduled at the level of 350 million dollars and more per year.

Clifton W. Phalen, company president, said that this would not only step up the company's program to improve telephone service, but would provide an upward thrust to the economy of the state by creating jobs both inside and outside the telephone business.

Outlines Program

"Provided the company is free to use the tax savings in this manner, the expanded program will bring improvements to every major area of the state in which the company operates," Mr. Phalen said.

The program includes: Complete conversion to dial operation. This calls for a new building in 17 of the communities which will benefit from this modern service.

Construction of two other large telephone buildings in New York City and Nassau County as well as alterations and modernization to other buildings, including a major addition to the Albany headquarters building.

All Would Be Dials

Extension of nationwide dialing throughout the downstate territory.

Providing better grades of service in the rural areas at attractive rates. This requires the construction of thousands of additional circuits in the more remote sections of the state.

Improved long distance service.

Improved and additional public transportation terminals. It is estimated that this program will generate upwards of 2,000 additional jobs, some within, other outside the business.

West Hurley Man May Be Linked to $250,000 Racket

A West Hurley man, whom the district attorney's office reports may be associated with a large policy slip ring netting over $250,000 a year, was arrested Monday afternoon and held in $50 bail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock, on March 17.

Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt stated that Dominick Salvucci, 33, of West Hurley, was picked up Monday afternoon by State Police Investigator Joseph Frank and Kingston Police Detective Charles McCullough at West Hurley on a charge of possession of policy slips. He, according to the district attorney's office, had a number of policy slips on his person and also a large sum of money which allegedly had been picked up at a Town of Saugerties site.

Violations of the gambling law have been under investigation in this area for some time and several arrests have been made. Vogt said the local operation was apparently connected with a "ring" which operated a large gambling operation and appeared to be "netting a quarter million dollars" annual take.

Relatives Received At Minden

Probing at Crash Scene for Reason

MINDEN, Nev. (AP)—Workers began the grim task today of recovering and identifying 85 Lake Tahoe plane crash victims as this tiny western Nevada town opened its doors and kitchens to relatives of the dead.

The 81 passengers and four crew members died Sunday in the crash of a Paradise Airlines Constellation against a lofty, snow-covered peak on a flight scheduled from San Jose, Calif. to the gambling and winter sports center on the south shore of Lake Tahoe.

An Old Logging Road

The path for recovery operations was cleared by a bulldozer and crew which followed an old logging road, then pushed through rocks and snow to the crash site.

Relatives and friends of the victims thronged into Minden, a Basque-German town of 550 residents located six miles east of the crash site and seven miles south of Carson City, the state capital.

The fire station became an information center; the Carson Valley Improvement Club became a morgue and Douglas County courthouse became headquarters for recovery posses.

Inspecting Scene

While the bodies were carried out, Federal Aviation Agency and Civil Aeronautics Board investigators were to examine the crash scene in an attempt to learn why the plane crashed.

The victims, all Californians and mostly from the Salinas and San Jose areas, were headed for a day at Nevada gambling casinos when the plane was caught in a blinding snowstorm.

Pilot Henry Norris, 43, took his plane to the north end of the 6,228-foot-high lake for a routine approach to Lake Tahoe Airport.

He radioed at 11:29 a.m. Sunday that he had spotted the lake through a break in the storm and was over the last approach marker to the airport. Two minutes later he began a message, "Flight 901—'Nothing more was heard."

Hampered by Snow

Air and ground searches, hampered Sunday by the snowstorm, did not find the plane until 7:30 a.m. Monday—when it was spotted on a ridge near the south end and several miles east of the lake.

Authorities speculated that at the last minute Norris changed his flight plan and headed for Reno or Carson City.

The biggest piece of wreckage was the tail section. Most of the other pieces were so small they were hard to distinguish from tree stumps and rocks.

Helicopter pilot Leroy W. Marx, who spotted the wreckage said: "If he (Norris) had been 25 to 30 feet higher he would have cleared the peak."

Eruption Wipes Out Chile Town; Toll Could Soar

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—An Andean volcano was reported today to have erupted and triggered avalanches that destroyed the little town of Conaripe and threatened a 60 - mile area of southern Chile containing 20,000 persons.

Seven Confirmed Deaths

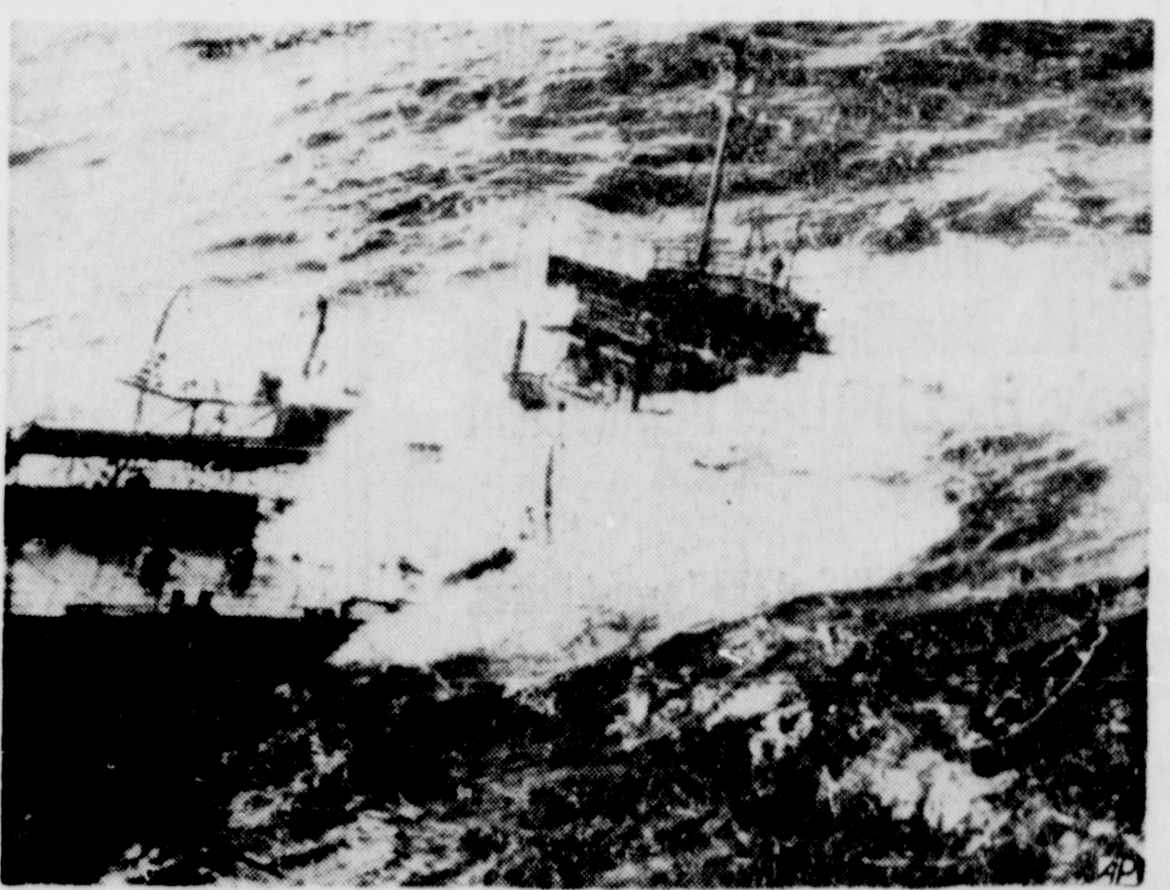

Press reports from the stricken area said at least 25 persons had been killed after the fiery eruption of 9,325-foot Villarica volcano early Monday, but police said only seven deaths had been confirmed.

"Nothing is left of Conaripe," a civilian pilot said after flying over the mountain valley about 500 miles south of Santiago Monday. "There is only mud and water where the town was."

Other reports said 80 per cent of the town's buildings, including three hotels, were destroyed.

Police at Temuco, 60 miles northwest of the volcano, said "many people are missing and we do not know what their exact fate has been."

Wouldn't Accept VP Designation

Scranton Hopes to Avoid Contesting for Nomination

By JACK BELL
A.P. Political Writer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton said Monday that after giving the matter the "deep thought" suggested by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, he hopes to avoid contesting for the Republican presidential nomination.

Moreover, Scranton said in an Associated Press interview, he would decline to accept the nomination for vice president if it were offered to him by his party. He had not previously made such a flat statement.

Scranton, limited by the Pennsylvania Constitution to a single term as governor ending in January 1967, is regarded as a likely compromise choice for first place on this year's national ticket by Republicans seeking a party moderate with appeal to big city voters to oppose President Johnson.

Replies in Patience

Wearing in the lapel of his impeccably tailored dark suit the bright badge of his professed reluctance to become involved in any such maneuverings, the 46-year-old governor patiently replied to questions about issues on which a GOP presidential nominee would have to take a stand.

Following is a partial text of Scranton's answers:

Q. What was the result of the "deep thought" you promised General Eisenhower that you would give in the matter of seeking the Republican nomination?

A. I haven't changed my opinion any, so far. I am still thinking. I don't deny that I may well for some time, I still feel very strongly that I don't want to do this. I am not a candidate, I don't want to be a candidate, and I don't think it is necessary. I think you have got plenty of good ones.

Q. Do you have a preference among these others?

A. I don't have a preference at the moment. I assume that I will by the time I get to the convention.

Q. Senator Goldwater has said you ought to be seeking the vice presidential nomination. Would you accept it if it were offered?

A. I am not interested in any national office.

Q. Does that mean that you would not accept the vice presidential nomination if it were offered to you?

A. I think it means that I would not accept it if offered to me.

Q. How about presidential nomination?

A. I said that I would accept that if there was a sincere and honest draft, but I don't expect there will be one. That doesn't happen in modern political times.

Q. With the tax reduction now law, do you believe that federal spending should be reduced?

Must Cut Expenditures

A. Yes, I do. I think if we have this shot in the arm approach in a good economic period that we can lead ourselves into inflation if we don't start cutting expenditures.

Q. Do you believe that compromises are going to be necessary or desirable to get Senate approval of the House civil rights bill?

A. As far as I am concerned, it is not necessary or desirable. Q. What is your position on the use of troops to enforce federal court orders in civil rights disturbances?

A. I have said over and over again that had I been President Kennedy or had I been President Eisenhower in the cases involved and with my knowledge of the facts involved, I would have done the same thing. Let's be honest about it, it would entirely depend upon the situation at the time and what the conditions are and what the necessity for it is.

Q. How would you finance a federal program of health care for the elderly?

Cites Pennsylvania

A. First of all, I would try and implement the Kerr-Mills Act in the states as much as possible. We have been doing an outstanding job in this in Pennsylvania and we are No. 1 in the nation. Secondly, I don't think this is enough to take care of the total need. Therefore, federal legislation is a necessity. Thirdly, I think we are fooling the public if we say the programs can be financed under the Social Security provisions. In my opinion, in order to do this job, you will have to do it under the regular taxing system. I may add that I think it is fairer.

Q. You do oppose federal aid to elementary and high schools?

A. I oppose it on this basis: I think we can take care of it on a state and local level. If you don't have to have too many governmental units involved in a given project, the better off you are.

MORE TO SPEND OR SAVE

The tax bill batter has been poured and placed in the oven; only time will tell whether Mother Johnson's special yeast will raise the nation's economic cake to a new level.

The tax cut will add about $6.1 billion in income to private purses in 1964. No one is predicting just how the citizenry will use this extra money, which will become available immediately in pay checks as the withholding tax is reduced from an average of 18 per cent to 14 per cent. (For millions this will mean from $3 to $5 more a week.)

If it does result in a general spending spree, which is what the administration hopes for, it may amount to more than the $6 billion actually involved, for few people will confine their spending to just the amount of new money they will be getting. Rather, the new money will be an incentive to undertake expenditures that will require part of their previous take-home pay as well.

For some, the money will be wisely put to reducing their personal debt. Still others—and their numbers may be the most significant of all—will elect to continue under their old budgets and bank the windfall, at least for the time being.

The tax cut is frankly an experiment in economics. Not only is it the largest in history, but it is the first time a tax cut has been designed to spur an economy that is and has been rising steadily, if not spectacularly.

At this point, the only thing to be regretted is that, except for the change in figures, it is still the same old bundle of tax laws.

No general overhauling of the tax structure, which was part of the original proposal made by President Kennedy in 1962, and few of the fundamental reforms advocated by the experts have been effected.

But most people are too happy to look this particular gift horse in the mouth. And as for matching government spending with government income—well, that's something else again.

COMMUNIST SQUABBLES

President Johnson's remark that the Communists face worse difficulties than we do because of their "spreading civil war" was closer to the truth than many realized. This "civil war" reached new intensity when little Albania, an ally of Red China in the ideological dispute with the Soviet Union, seized the Soviet embassy and other Soviet buildings in Tirana, the Albanian capital.

News of the seizure came on the heels of the snub the Soviet bloc gave Red China's first diplomatic envoy to France on his arrival in Paris. Izvestia demanded that Albania return the seized buildings immediately but did not threaten retaliatory action or mention Albanian embassy property in Moscow.

The Paris and Tirana incidents can be expected, however, to prolong and intensify the already bitter quarrel. Khrushchev may yet come to believe that peaceful co-existence between Russia and the West is easier to attain than peaceful co-existence with the Communist orbit.

CHEWING IT OVER

After three months, 4,075 pages of testimony, 432 government exhibits and 341 defense exhibits, the Federal Trade Commission has completed its hearings on one of the stickiest cases ever to come to its attention.

The situation involves a bubble gum company and its alleged monopoly of the baseball card business. According to the federals, the manufacturer has tied up almost the entire professional baseball playing population to long-term contracts, including potential stars in the minors.

The commission will now withdraw to chew the matter over and will announce its decision in July.

One thing will not be changed, however: The trading value of, say, a Sandy Koufax as against a Roger Maris will still be left to the ultimate arbiters—the kids.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND "EXPERTISE"

Roger Hilsman, the man who inadvertently gave President de Gaulle the opening to extend French recognition to Red China, has resigned his position of Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs to go into university teaching, and the change raises several points about the flow of so-called expertise backward and forward between government and the educational world.

In one sense, Hilsman is a sacrifice to the need for a new wigwag in the semaphore code which the Administration must necessarily use to show that we disapprove of de Gaulle and do not mean to be pushed out of South Vietnam. Hilsman, in a couple of speeches, had virtually promised a neutralization policy in Asia. He made the implied promise contingent upon "good behavior" on the part of Red China. While this forecast no immediate shift in U.S. Far Eastern policy, it was enough to give de Gaulle the idea that we were tired of the struggle against the Communists in South Vietnam and Laos.

Despite the exchange of complimentary references between Hilsman and President Johnson that accompanied the resignation, the inference is obvious: LBJ had to stop the neutralization talk about South Vietnam lest the anti-Communist front collapse in Saigon. But Roger Hilsman certainly never made policy in the State Department by himself. Even as Hilsman was getting ready to go, the head of the Department, Dean Rusk, was making a speech to the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers which, for its obliviousness to both the theory and history of Marxist behavior, surpassed anything that Hilsman had ever put forward.

Rusk, in an effort to justify the catastrophe of the "what deal with Soviet Russia which pulled the plug on our efforts to isolate Fidel Castro's Cuba, made elaborate distinctions between friendly and unfriendly Marxist nations. But even as Rusk was talking, Cubans in Florida were presenting more and more evidence to the FBI that the Russians were continuing to arm Fidel Castro. With Nikita backing Fidel, the Rusk distinction between friendly and unfriendly Marxists must seem incredibly innocent to anybody with a diplomatic IQ of, let us say, 10. Criminal law, it might be observed, considers that the man who knowingly hands a loaded weapon to a ruffian bent on depredations is an accessory before the fact of law-breaking. The State of Massachusetts executed Bartolomeo Vanzetti for behaving as Khrushchev behaves now.

All of which brings us around to the university expertise that is fed into the State Department and which, in turn, goes back to college campuses. For years it was Owen Lattimore and his clique of mis-named "Far Eastern experts" who dominated the academic view of Marxism in Oriental dress. The Lattimore guff about Mao Tse-tung's "Jeffersonian agrarianism" was eventually discredited by events. But the "soft" view of Marxism has continued to hold academic sway in subtler terms.

The Walt Rostow idea that a Marxist country must prove amenable once it has reached a "take-off" place in economic development is merely a sophisticated version of British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas Home's unfortunate theory that "fat" Communists will stop conniving to overturn the world. Rostow, now a State Department planner, worked up this theory as an academic exercise while holding a university post. He may be learning now that all Communism is dangerous. But whether this insight, if it is ever gained, will be transmitted back to M.I.T. or Harvard is a question. Roger Hilsman, presumably, is taking the "soft" theory of Communism to Academe—and American boys and girls are not likely to be the gainers for it.

The ironical thing is that in spite of an "Establishment" we have a minority of professors on our campuses who have made profound studies of Marxist-Leninist history. This minority is seldom listened to in Washington. I think of sixty-year-old Professor Sidney Hook of New York University, for instance. If Princeton's academic adviser to the White House, Professor Eric Goldman, were on the ball, he would have Professor Hook ensconced in the State Department tomorrow. Hook has proposed a Freedom Academy to instruct prospective diplomats in the wiles and snares of Communist dialectics and in measures needed to counter them. But it is doubtful that anyone has ever mentioned Sidney Hook to LBJ. (Copyright, 1964, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Avoid Breathing Beryllium;
It Has Dangerous Effects

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am involved in the production of articles made from beryllium. To what extent is this metal toxic?

A—Anyone who works with powdered beryllium or its oxide is likely to inhale minute amounts. The effects appear more rapidly in some persons than in others, but over a period of several years this may lead to a thickening of the air sacs in the lungs. This would interfere with the normal exchange of gases in these sacs, and cause shortness of breath on exertion, coughing and loss of weight. The victim may also develop nonmalignant tumors of the liver, spleen, lymph nodes and skin.

If the disease (berylliosis) is discovered early and the victim is removed from any further exposure to the metal, no lasting damage is done. The diagnosis can be aided by using a patch test in which a 1 per cent solution of beryllium sulfate is applied to the skin. Steroid hormones have been used to treat the disease, but the best treatment is prevention. You should consult a specialist in industrial health hazards for proper methods of eliminating the beryllium hazard in your plant, if there is one.

Q—What is Parnate used for? What are its side effects? Could it lower the blood pressure enough to cause shock?

A—Tranylxpromine (Parnate) is primarily a tranquilizer. Side effects may include restlessness, insomnia, drowsiness, dizziness, dry mouth and headache. The drug may lower the blood pressure, but in the doses prescribed by your doctor it would not cause the pressure to fall to shock level. When the drug is discontinued, the blood pressure quickly returns to the pretreatment level.

Q—I'm 40 and my pulse runs between 52 and 55 beats per minute. Is this abnormally low?

A—A pulse rate as low as 50 may be normal in some persons, especially large-bodied athletes. An electrocardiogram would show whether or not your low pulse rate is associated with any irregularity of the heart. If your tracings are normal, you have nothing to worry about. In fact, persons with a normally slow pulse usually live longer than those with a fast one.

Q—About five years ago my uterus was removed, and 18 months ago I started to get fat across the middle of my abdomen. What could cause this?

A—it is not uncommon for women in middle age to develop a protruding abdomen. If you are not unusually fat, especially around the shoulders and hips, this change in shape is probably not due to an accumulation of fat, but to sagging abdominal muscles or to bloating. A tight-fitting girdle and exercises to strengthen the abdominal muscles should help you to regain your shape. If bloating is the cause you should avoid starchy vegetables (potatoes, rice, corn, peas and beans) and carbonated beverages.

Washington News

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

An interesting, new development has quietly occurred in the continuing Puerto Rican struggle among forces advocating, variously, an updated commonwealth status, statehood, and independence.

In late January, registrations for the 1964 gubernatorial and other elections were held on the island. They seem to indicate a definite drop-off in support for statehood.

In the 1960 gubernatorial contest, the Republican Statehood Party gained 32 per cent of the total vote. This was a new high. Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and his Popular Democratic Party supporters of an improved commonwealth status, collected 60 per cent. Independence supporters got just 3.6 per cent.

THE 1964 REGISTRATIONS gave Munoz party 67 per cent. A small percentage, possibly 5 per cent, chose at this stage not to identify themselves with any party. The remainder, less than 30 per cent, was split among all other parties.

No reliable breakdown of this remainder can be had from official sources, for some curious reason. But some estimates suggest the Statehooders' total is now down to 25 per cent or less. Munoz party in past elections has often received a vote percentage higher than its share of registrations, picking up two or three points from among the undecided.

By this reasoning, assuming the venerable governor stands as expected for re-election this year, he might obtain 70 per cent of the total vote.

WHATEVER HIS SHARE of the November total, it will be impossible this time—as before—to separate support for commonwealth status from the islanders' overwhelming sentimental attachment to Munoz.

It is this which most upsets such Republican Statehood leaders as Miguel Garcia Mendez, Luis Ferrer and Arturo Ortiz Toro. They and men like Raymond Acosta, young head of Citizens for State 51, feel statehood never will have a fair test at the polls so long as the popular Munoz is on the ballot.

Awareness of the new registration trends comes just as President Johnson is preparing to name his three members to a 12-member commission newly created to study Puerto Rico's future political status.

The commission, set to undertake its labors soon, will be rounded out with two members each from the U. S. House and Senate, and six from the island, to be chosen "according to Puerto Rican law."

The group probably will take from a year to 18 months to do the job, and its purely advisory recommendations to Congress will in no way affect the coming elections.

All possibilities—refined commonwealth status, statehood and independence—will be reviewed.

THE ULTIMATE expectation is that Congress finally will propose a new course of action, to be voted upon by Puerto Ricans in an island-wide plebiscite some years hence.

Munoz presently opposes statehood on the ground that Puerto Rico, for all its remarkable advances in the last decade, does not have a strong enough economic footing to get along without the special advantages it enjoys under commonwealth status.

Statehooders argue that this status is fundamentally a fraud, that the freedom Congress granted under it can be taken away at a stroke, that the island thus is still in colonial bondage.

March 3, 1944—A contingent of 32 men left here for U. S. Navy service and 45 were to go to the Army.

Howard S. Fuller, 59, of New Paltz, was fatally injured when the truck he drove was struck by a Walkill Valley freight train at a New Paltz crossing. The movie, "Casablanca," written by Howard Koch, formerly of Kingston, was announced as filmdom's 1943 prize film. Skiing conditions were reported favorable in the area.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The front page of the Feb. 20, 1964 Freeman carried a picture of the steel skeleton of the Ulster County Office building. In front of it, was the sad present County Clerk's and Surrogate office building covered with icicles. I wonder if this is the building's last winter. Several months ago, Captain Andrew C. Hickey, U.S.N. (ret.) author and local historian sent me a copy of Kenneth Hasbrouck's article called "A visit to 244 Fair Street Kingston, N. Y."

One item read: "According to the state law, each town must, and each county may have a historian. Ira Warren and Kenneth E. Hasbrouck presently share the office of county historian, but their duties are not specified and they are not included in the county budget for so much as a postage stamp." Perhaps, because these two dedicated and knowledgeable gentlemen are local, and really have their community and its history at heart that their needs are not noticed. But just let a smooth talking stranger set foot into our old and wise community, and he or they will easily be able to draw out many thousands of dollars, more or less, for a ream of paper of data and statistics, of absolutely no interest or value to anyone. And away they go, as Jackie Gleason would say. His writers would get no end of material right here in our midst.

When the local radio station was in the Governor Clinton Hotel, and when portable typewriters were still a novelty, I not only worked at the station, but also if a guest at the hotel needed typing done, and I was not too busy, I would do it. Even then, Kingston was known by strangers as a town for an "easy buck." I remember typing some ideas for conversion of local plants from war to peace time operation, and the conversation of those operators, that is why I can understand "Not a postage stamp for local people, but thousands for strangers."

To publicize our county and city historically, our historians should at least be given a ream of paper, with envelopes to match, nicely printed in perhaps old fashioned colonial type of the Ulster County Gazette. Stamps now being five cents, so one thinks twice before writing even to friends, should and could be supplied to our own local historians like Ira Warren and Kenneth Hasbrouck and others who can tell the world that we are still here, and have been since the early 1660's. Those who have seen the "Bulletin of the Ulster County Historical Society" will see what I mean, as they use the masthead of the "Ulster County Gazette" etc., in old print.

Kenneth Hasbrouck has many interesting items in his county clerk and surrogate office material, from which I quoted some time ago. I also want to say at this time, I hope not a scrap of paper is discarded or thrown out, without it being scrutinized by local historians, as they make way for the new building.

Let me quote from Mr. Hasbrouck's material, in which he was describing how he was looking for some data on the Cavert family of Marlborough, going back to 1747: "Most assuredly it would be better if there was a ruling that person could not sift and sort through these fine old documents without at least having them signed out to him."

Some of the material in those file boxes is actually priceless, not only for historical purposes, but imperative to the needs of the lawyer and the genealogist. Even in the cellar of the building one can find treasures of antiquity." Most readers know about the loan to Queen's College, which was written up several times before.

Validity of House Seats And Recent Court Decision

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A movement is developing to persuade Congress to enact a law that will take away from the Supreme Court of the United States the right to pass upon any case dealing with reapportionment of Congressional districts.

This solution is being advanced because the Supreme Court has cast doubt on the legality of the election of nearly all present members of the House of Representatives.

Congress is faced with a real dilemma. Do the members of the House of Representatives now hold their offices legally? The Supreme Court has declared that the systems in use in several states for choosing the members of the House are invalid. A point made in the minority opinion of Justice Harlan has caused much uncertainty and uneasiness. He said that the decision impugns the validity of the election of 398 Representatives from 37 states and that this leaves "a Constitutional" house of 37 members now sitting.

The Supreme Court added to the dilemma this week when it ordered the Congressional districts in Texas redrawn but left the door open for postponement of such action until after this year's elections. This raises the question of whether the successful candidates in the present districts in that state—which by the court's ruling are "unconstitutional"—can legally become members of the House of Representatives.

Members of Congress are puzzled what to do about it. They realize that lawsuits can be instituted questioning the validity of many statutes passed by this and preceding Congresses.

Under the Constitution it has hitherto been supposed, of course, that Congress and the state legislatures alone could decide on how districts should be apportioned. But now, since the Supreme Court has stepped in and assumed jurisdiction, all methods of electing members of the House of Representatives remain subject at any time to legal disputes and judicial intervention.

Congress has the power to take away such cases from the Supreme Court. In 1968 a law was passed which undertook to deprive the Supreme Court of jurisdiction in habeas corpus cases. President Andrew Jackson vetoed the measure, but it was passed over his veto. The Supreme Court itself in 1869 upheld the Constitutionality of this same law.

Many lawyers, therefore, now are urging that a law be passed removing the whole reapportionment process from the hands of the Supreme Court. The proposal has gained considerable momentum in view of the minority opinion written by Justice Harlan in the court's recent decision. He insisted that the Supreme Court overstepped its authority in the first place and should never have ruled as it did on the reapportionment case. He declared: "I had not expected to witness the day when the Supreme Court

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Holly-wood and the Stars" started out in September dedicated to the production of laughs and nostalgia by showing bits from old silent movies. It has steadily broadened its horizons.

Monday night it showed what really went on during the well-publicized days in Mexico when Ava, Dickie and Liz—in alphabetical order—were concerned with the making of a movie, "Night of the Iguana."

Those expecting a lurid account were doomed to disappointment. Some one on the scene compared the sober goings-on to a Boy Scout picnic. This proved to be wild exaggeration.

The only fireworks shown were real ones—Roman candles shot off at a rather perfunctory party after the film was finished.

HONOR SYSTEM: When a convict is put on parole today, it is done somewhat differently than the name signifies. Originally it was "Parole d'honneur" in France or "word of honor." Before the person was released from prison, he was made to give his "word of honor" that he would not again be a law violator.

We did see Miss Gardner water skiing and, of course, acting. Miss Taylor was glimpsed reading a newspaper and standing around at the party. Burton was shown having his makeup applied, acting and standing around with Miss Taylor, looking bored.

By that time so was I. "Hollywood and the Stars" is a lot more entertaining when it shows Rudolph Valentino, Rod LaRoque, Billie Dove and Mack Sennett bathing beauties.

"Missing Links," the NBC panel show, which will be departing soon to make room for Merv Griffin's new "Jeopardy," will not be a candidate for television's Boot Hill. ABC has picked up the show and is expected to put it into its morning game show lineup.

Ed McMahon, "Missing Links" host, probably will not cross the channel with the program. He has conflicting commitments with NBC's "Tonight Show" and Johnny Carson. Sebastian Cabot, late of "Checkmate" and "Stump the Stars," will be host-narrator of CBS' "Suspense" series, which will replace "Tell It to the Camera" on March 26.

Recommended tonight: "Our Man in Washington," NBC, 10-11 (EST)—David Brinkley on a guided tour of the nation's capital that does not include the Washington Monument.

BRIDGE How Duplicate Play Differs

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How should you play today's hand against the normal defense of two spade leads followed by a shift to a trump?

If you were playing duplicate you would draw trumps, cash one high diamond and then try club and diamond finesses. You would lose both finesses and be down one trick, but you would be right in line with the rest of the field. Everyone would be in four hearts. Everyone would be down one.

Should you play the hand the same way in rubber bridge? Not if you want to be a rubber bridge winner. A winning duplicate player will occasionally take an extra risk in an effort to make an overtrick. A winning rubber bridge player will concentrate on making his contract.

Therefore, at rubber bridge you should cash the ace and king of diamonds after you have drawn trumps. East's queen will drop and you will have avoided the loss of a diamond trick.

Why was this good play and not just luck? Because you had planned to lead the jack of diamonds if the queen did not drop. Should East hold the queen, you would have lost the diamond finesse anyway, but would still

Should West hold the queen you would have given up an unnecessary diamond trick, but you would be certain to make your contract because West would have to give you a ruff and discard or lead a club for you.

Likely to Lack Tension, Drama

Issues of Deep Concern May Be Missing in '64 Election

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This 1964 campaign year will have the usual chatter but may wind up ho-hum, lacking the tension and drama of recent presidential contests.

In three of the past four elections the issues and problems which gave the voters passionate concern seem muted so far this year.

For instance: war, Communist aggressions, McCarthyism, worry about internal security, the question of taking a new direction into a new era, and more heat about and by the candidates than has been shown yet in 1964.

Since President Johnson has the inside track for the Democrats' nomination, there's no excitement about their convention next summer. This could change if he pulls some boners, but there's nothing like that in sight.

Although the Republican nomination is wide open, the two men working for it hardest apparently haven't built major fires: New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The two who may have the best chance for the prize don't even admit they're candidates, although they do a lot of talking: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton.

If Nixon is the man, the little element of mystery which gives a campaign zest before it starts won't apply. He laid down his campaign manners and methods in 1960.

Scranton, for a man being mentioned, shows a strange indifference. Last month he said a candidate for president to be effective must be "real stirred about the issues." He says he is not stirred up enough now.

It wasn't like this in what former President Harry S. Truman might now consider the good old days of 1948 when to practically everyone's surprise, but not his, he beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

But in 1948 tension climbed like a thermometer in a boiler room: the Communists had grabbed Czechoslovakia just before the campaign began and during the campaign Truman was trying to smash the aggressive Soviet blockade of Berlin with an airlift.

Even that was only part of the voters' concern. They had to ask themselves: Was this to be the end of an era that began 16 years before with Roosevelt? Was it time for a change? The voters decided no.

Their mood was far different in 1952 when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Adlai E. Stevenson, governor of Illinois. By then the country was torn apart over McCarthyism, communism in this country, and the war against communism in Korea.

Stevenson gave the campaign dignity and intellectual agility far above most campaigns in history. He held interest. But by then the voters really wanted a change and chose the less articulate Eisenhower.

When Stevenson ran against Eisenhower in 1956 he never had a chance. By then, under Eisenhower, the country had recaptured its sanity and stability. Both McCarthyism and the Korean war were over.

The duel between Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy gave the 1960 campaign spice, particularly the television debates. Interest was high, so high the voters were almost equally divided between them, as Kennedy's hair-line win showed.

But nothing like any of those campaigns is in sight for 1964, at least not yet.

Scofflaw, Mother Of 3, Prefers Jail

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A 39-year-old mother who said parking fines were "unconstitutional and degrading," has spent her first night in jail rather than pay $115 in penalties.

After she was sentenced Monday, Dorothy Horvath and her husband decided their 18-month-old daughter, Lisa, would be better off in jail with her mother. Jail matrons took another view, and the father agreed to take the child home.

Mrs. Horvath, the mother of three, was sentenced to 55 days by County Judge John E. Krueger. Police said she accumulated 11 parking tickets in a 2½-month period last year.

Mrs. Horvath is a student at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, studying for an advanced degree in guidance and counseling. Her husband, William, 42, teaches economics at the Milwaukee Vocational School.

Two sales of U.S. wheat to Russia — totaling about $132.5 million worth — have been reported. The Soviet Union has bought wheat from other Western nations also since last summer because of crop failures.

Hoffa Is Chided By Judge for Remarks in Hall

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa received a public reprimand in court today from the federal judge who will send Hoffa's jury-tampering case to the jury before nightfall.

When court resumed this morning, Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said he had heard the Teamsters Union president shouting in the corridors outside the courtroom. With the jury absent, he declared: "I sent a marshal to find out what was going on. He reported back that Mr. Hoffa was complaining very bitterly about the way the marshals were handling the jury."

Had to Keep Quiet

Hoffa started to reply, but was cut off by a wave of the judge's hand. "This has happened repeatedly during this trial," the judge said. Peering down at Hoffa, he added: "Let's discontinue these extremely loud arguments both in and out of the courtroom."

In the hall, Hoffa complained that the marshals assigned to escort the jury were acting as guards rather than escorts.

Five Others on Trial

Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union, and five others went on trial Jan. 20, charged with trying to fix the jury in Hoffa's 1962 trial at Nashville, on a conspiracy charge. That trial ended with a hung jury.

On trial with Hoffa are Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters official; Larry Campbell, Detroit Teamsters business agent, and his uncle, Thomas Parks of Nashville.

Hoffa could receive 15 years in prison and a $15,000 fine if convicted. The others could get five years each and fines of $5,000 apiece.

Quiz Amsler Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A government prosecutor resumes today his cross-examination of Joseph Amsler who describes himself as the reluctant participant in the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr.

"At one time," said Amsler Monday, "I thought I was going nuts. I kept hearing the radio calling us 'mad dogs.' Frank Jr., soothed me—told me to get a grip on myself. He cheered me up."

Ass. U.S. Atty. Thomas R. Sheridan, attacked Amsler's testimony that his statement to the FBI was false.

The statement, previously read into evidence, began: "Last Sunday we kidnaped Frank Sinatra Jr., at gunpoint." Sheridan took the statement phrase by phrase. Amsler testified most of it was true.

GENEVA (AP) — France today demanded the admission of Communist China to the United Nations World Health Organization.

DeGaulle to Soviet?

PARIS (AP)—Does Charles de Gaulle plan to visit the Soviet Union?

A Soviet official set off speculation along those lines after an hour's talk with the French president in Paris Monday. Nikolai V. Podgorniy, a member of the Presidium and head of a parliamentary mission to France, told newsmen he and De Gaulle didn't talk about such a visit.

But he added: "The invitation of M. Khrushchev (issued in 1960) still stands. The date for this trip will be settled a little bit later."

Chou Warns West

LONDON (AP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai accused the West Monday night of trying to widen the rift between Moscow and Peking. He warned "imperialists" not to rejoice too soon.

"Whatever happens, the fraternal Chinese and Soviet people will stand together in any storm that breaks out in the world arena," Chou said in a television interview filmed in Peking.

IBM Counsel Is Named to Cancer Drive by Quilty

Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the American Cancer Society's 1964 Crusade in Ulster County, today announced the appointment of Joseph H. McCann Jr., of 40 Wilkie Avenue, as chairman of the Industrial division in the county.

Plans for the Ulster County Unit's participation in this year's drive, are rapidly taking shape. A kickoff meeting will be held later in the month.

"Preparation for this year's Crusade will concentrate on more effective training of volunteers to do the door-to-door bell ringing which is so important in raising funds and educating the public in ways to protect themselves from death from cancer," Quilty said.

McCann is presently plant counsel at IBM Kingston. He received his AB degree from Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., and his LL.B. from Boston University Law School in 1949. He is a member of the Ulster County Bar Association, New York State Bar Association, Massachusetts Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

McCann served in the U. S. Marine Corps from March 1942 until May 1946, and was recalled in July 1950. He was discharged in November, 1951. He came to Kingston in November of 1955, and was promoted to his present position in June 1959.

McCann, who will head the Industrial Division of the county crusade this year, is a member of Kingston Chamber of Commerce and Kingston Rotary Club.

Augustus S. Brinnier is vice chairman of the Ulster County committee.

Two Are in Jail For Hearing on Break at Motel

Charged with attempted burglary, third degree, and being held in the county jail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Philip Schunk of Town of Lloyd on Wednesday, is Michael Amato, 25, of Highland and Anthony Fiordina, 19, of New Paltz. They are charged with attempting to break into the College Motel Inn at New Paltz.

The entrance was spotted by some one at the inn and the two men were later apprehended by Highland State Police and held for a later hearing.

Van Out of Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Van Johnson walked out of New York's Memorial Hospital for and Allied Diseases, and got a hug, a kiss and an order from his nurse, Marion Blacklock.

"Now don't come back," she said.

The actor, 47, had been hospitalized for four weeks after exploratory surgery for cancer.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market kept a narrowly higher edge early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

Gains of fractions to about a point outnumbered losers in the same range.

Steels, aerospace issues and utilities showed strength at the start but gains by the averages were trimmed as the session continued.

Profit taking thinned out the list of gainers and reduced many advances.

The market had behind it two days of strength which put the Dow Jones industrial average above the significant 800 level. Traders took profits on a precautionary basis even though the background of business news remained good.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 299.1 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.42 at 804.17.

The market framework included news that the consumer price index had risen to a record in January and that auto production in February was well ahead of February 1963.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds showed little change.

More Freedom Is Favored for State University Within

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says the State University should have more authority over its internal administration than do other agencies in the executive branch of state government.

Backed by Leaders
"Considerations both of academic freedom and of management efficiency justify" this, the governor said yesterday in asking the Legislature to approve his proposal for greater independence to the State University in personnel and budget matters.

GOP legislative leaders are supporting his plan.

The governor, in a message that spelled out a program he made public last week, asked the Legislature also to help the State University "Make the most of its rapid expansion."

Recommendations
The governor recommended that:

State university units receive lump-sum appropriations without being required to submit itemized breakdowns of spending requests.

The university submit its annual budget requests directly to the governor, rather than through the Education Department, which would get an "information copy."

The University president be authorized to determine which staff positions would be exempt from civil service and that he be allowed "greater flexibility in appointments at salary levels within salary grades."

Additional personnel be provided the Office of General Services to speed purchases for the university.

Expansion of the State's public higher education facilities is being pressed by Rockefeller to accommodate an expected doubling of enrollment to 160,000 students by 1970.

Eruption Wipes
ing center, had a population of several hundred. It was on a southern slope of the volcano in the heart of the towering southern Andes.

A radio report said a group of about 150 persons were huddled on a patch of high ground near the site of the destroyed town.

Rains Delay Patrols
Police patrols were dispatched but were delayed because heavy rains since Friday have washed out roads and bridges.

It was feared that the missing included tourists, who flock to fishing and yachting resorts in the area at this time of the year, the end of the Southern Hemisphere's summer. Most tourists, however, frequent the larger towns of Valdivia and Pucón, which were reported outside the danger area.

The avalanches and streams of lava pushed several rivers out of their banks. Already swollen from four days of violent rains, the rivers inundated much of the valley around Conaripe.

Lists Benefits Of Feed Grain Program for 1964

Chairman Joseph Sauer of the Ulster County ASC Committee, cited four separate and distinct advantages to those farmers who take part in the 1964 feed grain program.

A diversion payment is earned by feed grain farmers who take part in the program.

The price-support is paid on 1964 acreage planted to any of the feed grains covered by the program.

A farmer may request payment in advance on part of the diversion payment due him; and

A feed grain farmer taking part qualifies for price-support on all of his '64 corn, barley, and grain sorghum produced on the farm.

The sign-up period for the program began Feb. 10 and runs through March 27.

Chairman Sauer said all details are available at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Offices, 54 John Street, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday thru Friday.

Rains Delay Patrols
Police patrols were dispatched but were delayed because heavy rains since Friday have washed out roads and bridges.

It was feared that the missing included tourists, who flock to fishing and yachting resorts in the area at this time of the year, the end of the Southern Hemisphere's summer. Most tourists, however, frequent the larger towns of Valdivia and Pucón, which were reported outside the danger area.

Ulster Kiwanis Is Promoting Circus Monday, July 6th

Thanks to the Ulster Kiwanis Club, a circus organization which had its beginning in Kingston, will appear here on Monday, July 6, it was learned today.

Robert Morehouse, club president, said that plans to bring the Von Brothers Three-Ring Circus, formerly the Hunt Bros. Circus, here on that date were reached after a meeting of the Kiwanians in Ang-El's Restaurant at which the main speaker was Harry Brown, advance representative for the Von Bros. Circus.

Morehouse appointed Orvil E. Norman as club circus chairman. Committee members chosen included Vincent Ciccone, Sidney Spiegel, John Schick, Seymour Webelowsky and Harold Macdonald.

The proceeds from ticket sales by the Kiwanians, as sponsors of the circus, will go towards better community service projects in the Town of Ulster. Site of the circus has not yet been set but it will be in the Kingston-Ulster area, officials said.

The circus is managed by Harry Hunt, surviving son of the originator of the Hunt Bros. Circus, the late Charles Hunt, who started the circus in Kingston in 1892. The younger Charles Hunt Jr. who operated the circus with his brother since 1942 and beyond the death of their father in 1957, died last August in a New Jersey hospital after a long illness. The show had appeared in Kingston as the Hunt Bros. International Circus, only a short time before.

Marine Admits Ax-Killing of Parents, Sister

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Police say a 19-year-old AWOL Marine has admitted the ax-killing of his father, mother and sister in Decatur, Ill.

Michael Lee Gambrell, object of a nationwide alarm broadcast after the mutilated bodies were discovered Monday, was picked up Monday night as he hiked along U.S. 1 near this south Florida town.

Police Sgt. William R. Hamilton said Gambrell seemed shaken up and volunteered that he had done "a terrible thing."

Hamilton said Gambrell told him he had been absent without official leave from his outfit at San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. since Feb. 22.

Gambrell told police he abandoned the family's 1959 automobile at Fort Pierce, Fla., and started south along U.S. 1.

At Decatur, police warrants were issued for Gambrell after the bodies of Everett Gambrell, 49; his wife, Eileen; 46, and their daughter, Anna Belle, 13, were found.

May said Gambrell was in the Decatur area Thursday afternoon. The slayings are believed to have occurred Friday. The Gambrells had one other child, an 8-year-old boy who is in a state school for the mentally retarded.

In Decatur, a neighbor of Mrs. Gambrell said Michael was angry because his parents refused to help him get out of the Marine Corps.

Why Some Stocks Fall When Earnings Go Up

Q "I bought Republic National Life and it went up although reporting lower earnings. I hold General Tire, which has not moved in a year; and Arizona Public Service, which has gone down although both show increased earnings. Is there a lesson for me to learn here?" H. G.

A You're an alert young man, and I commend you for it. The only lesson to be learned is that the market is always looking far ahead.

Republic National Life reported lower earnings for the first half of 1963 because a nonrecurring gain was included in the comparable 1962 period. Aside from this, earnings from operations and investments should actually have been better in 1963 and will probably be so again in 1964.

Arizona Public Service will probably show a decline in earnings in 1964 because of lower credits for interest during construction. The market is discounting this fact.

General Tire's revenues some largely from controlled Areojel-General, operating entirely in defense business. Here, too, the market is discounting some cutbacks in that area.

Q "Could you explain how the price structure of tax-exempts is arrived at?" J. A.

A Aside from money rates, the price structure of tax-exempts depends mainly on three factors.

First, of these is quality, which in simplest terms is reflected in the ratings assigned to individual issues by a major Municipal Service. A triple-A bond normally sells to yield less than a double-A, and so on.

Second is maturity. Short-term issues usually sell on a much lower basis than long-term issues because their market risk is less and the institutional demand is high.

Third is the coupon rate. A low-coupon bond with a fairly long maturity sells at a substantial discount. When paid off at par, the difference in price is considered as a capital gain fully subject to Federal tax. In compensation, they sell to yield more than would a comparable issue with a higher coupon.

Railroad Crossings
Editor, The Freeman

I'd like to express my opinion on a matter which annoys me a great deal.

How much longer are we supposed to put up with conditions relative to the railroad crossings over our city streets?

Since you published the picture in your paper several weeks ago of a derailment on Murray Street, there have been two more. The last one was on Thursday night at 10. Two streets were blocked and a dangerous condition existed while railroad employees worked four hours to get the cars back on the tracks. The noise while this was going on was terrific.

It isn't very pleasant to sit in your home and get shook apart by the vibrations from these trains, not counting the cracking of our walls and shaking the TV out of line.

They are carrying such heavy loads of cement, etc., that two Diesel engines have all they can do to drag the cars over the rails which are so far below the roadbed that the cars tear up the pavement leaving such holes that it is a crime to drive a car over these streets. The ties under the rails are rotted so bad they no longer support the tracks properly.

As taxpayers I think we are entitled to a little consideration from our city officials. There are no signal lights or warnings on these streets. Of course they blow a horn when crossing the streets which certainly doesn't put us in a good mood in the early morning

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Jones faced the problem of being a second-generation Hollywood name, fought it, licked it, and now he's pleased to admit that Allan Jones is his Pa.

His achievement was signaled a week ago when he appeared on the Judy Garland television show and sang his father's long-time signature song, "The Donkey Serenade."

Says Jack: "It was the first time I had ever sung 'The Donkey Serenade' publicly, and the first time I had ever referred to my father while performing. I think he was pretty pleased."

Allan should be mightily pleased with his son's career. While other stars' children have tried to make the show biz scene with little more than their famous names, Jack appears to be building his future on solid ground of talent and experience.

But he didn't start out that way.

Jack was born in 1938 when his father was enjoying success as a sometime Jeanette Mac-

Donald co-star and singing lead with the Marx brothers. Jack's mother is actress Irene Hervey.

The boy grew up with scant notion of following the family trade until he was pressed into service as a singer in student shows at university high school. He liked it.

He got his start in the big-time on his father's coattails. Father and son did an act that played Las Vegas and elsewhere seven years ago.

"The act was built around our family life," said Jack. "Then my folks got a divorce, so that sort of broke up the act."

By then Jack was convinced that the singing life was for him, and he set out on his own.

Television has given Jack the big push. Besides the Garland show, he played the late Jerry Lewis show four times, plus the Telephone Hour, Garry Moore, Ed Sullivan, etc. He's a tall lad with intent, glinting eyes and a personable manner.

Kilts worn by the famous Evzone warriors of Greece sometimes contain more than 40 yards of material.

Employment in New York State gets more GROW-POWER from Savings Banks

If you're interested in employment—and who isn't?—look at the way Savings Banks give Grow-Power to Employment in New York State . . .

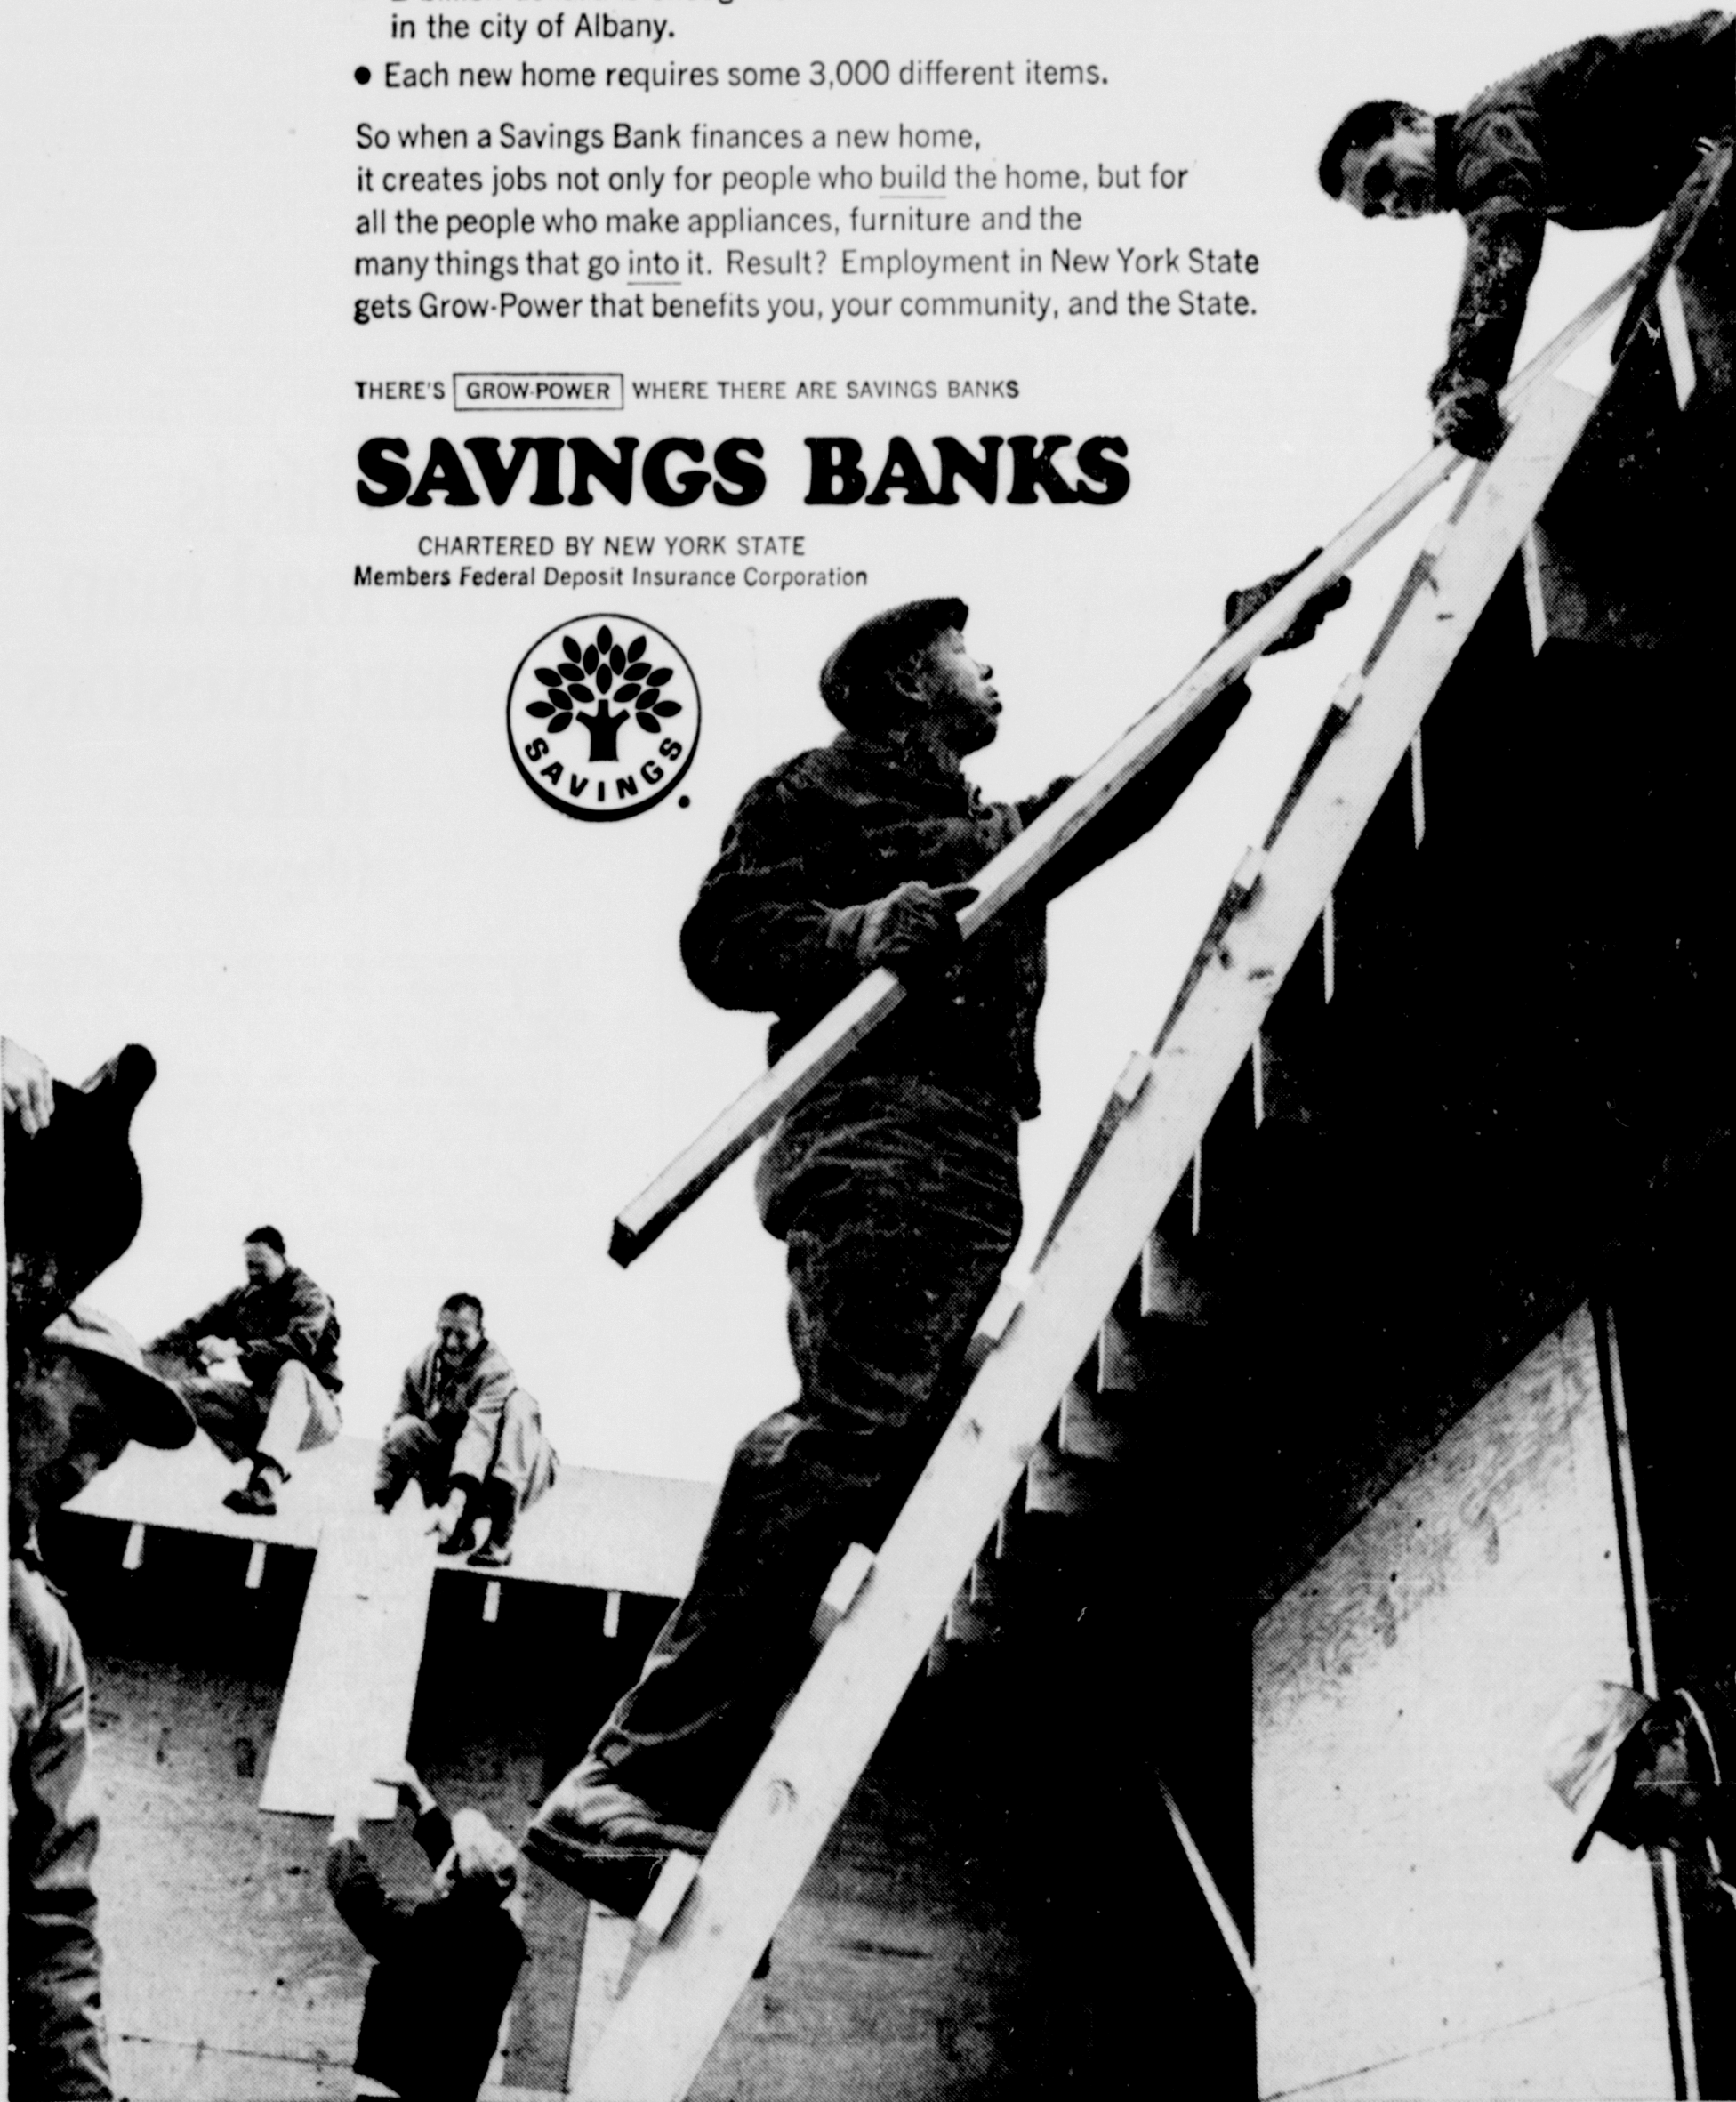

- Savings Banks have 12 billion dollars invested in mortgage loans in New York State—more than the combined total of all other New York State financial institutions. 2 billion of this was invested in the last year alone.
- 2 billion dollars is enough to build twice the number of homes in the city of Albany.
- Each new home requires some 3,000 different items.

So when a Savings Bank finances a new home, it creates jobs not only for people who build the home, but for all the people who make appliances, furniture and the many things that go into it. Result? Employment in New York State gets Grow-Power that benefits you, your community, and the State.

Marist College Plans to Build New Dormitory

A 10-story dormitory and a tri-level campus activities center at Marist College overlooking the Hudson River will be constructed of reinforced concrete at an estimated cost of $4,000,000, it was announced Saturday by Brother Linus Richard Foy, F.M.S., college president.

Both sections, designed by Paul Canin, A.I.A., of Poughkeepsie, are scheduled to open in September, 1965. The project will be financed partly through gifts to the college and partly through bonds issued by the Dormitory Authority of the State of New York.

The Town of Poughkeepsie Planning Board has approved site plan approval, and college officials are expected to appear this week before the Town Zoning Board of Appeals to seek a variance from the zoning laws to construct the 10-story building.

Named After Founder

The new structure, to be known as Champagnat Hall, after the founder of the Marist Brothers, Blessed Marcellin Champagnat, will be dramatic witness to the rapid growth of the college.

Marist, which opened its doors to 12 area students in 1957, now has a total enrollment of 1,150 students in its day and evening divisions. When completed, Champagnat Hall will be the largest single building in the Marist Order's international educational enterprise, which includes educational institutions in 57 countries.

Brother Foy noted that the admissions office, which has processed three applications for every place in the freshman class of 1963, was currently swamped with seven applications for every place in the coming freshman class. The proposed project will enable the college to accept 800 resident students and 400 commuting students by September 1965.

Completion of Champagnat Hall will enable the college to renovate Donnelly Hall, the main academic building on campus, to include five extra classrooms and laboratory space for the chemistry and physics departments.

New Campus Center

The tri-level campus center will add 55,000 square feet to the existing activities area and will enable the college to expand facilities available to the interested public for cultural opportunities.

The campus-center's ground-level, providing dining and food service areas for students, guests and faculty, will open on one side to a two-story high interior sculpture court, and on the other to a large observation deck for outdoor dining. It will adjoin a music lounge and practice rooms, workshops, crafts and game rooms, club and faculty offices, post office, sub-station and campus shops.

The center's lower level will feature a rathskeller, snack bar and informal party room.

The dormitory will house 426 students, and add 94,000 square feet to existing dorm facilities. It will feature a roof-top solarium and observation deck.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The power of the pull toward higher interest rates should be tested in the next few weeks.

On one end of the rope in this tug of war are the federal income tax cut's touted boost to the American economy and the trend in Europe toward higher interest rates. On the other end of the rope is reluctance of government planners to see higher rates cramp a business boom before it gets well started.

The U.S. Treasury has urged the money market not to speculate on a raise here in the discount rate, similar to that just ordered by the Bank of England. But some Wall Street credit and security dealers already talk of the prospects that the Federal Reserve Board will sooner or later raise the present 3½ per cent discount rate—the charge for borrowing by its member banks.

The Federal Reserve never telegraphs its punches. It won't say when, if ever, it will raise the rate to which most other short-term interest charges are tied. So the dealers just guess. And the yields on some short-term debts already have risen a little in anticipation.

The Federal Reserve has other weapons in controlling the amount of credit and influencing the size of interest charges.

One is to increase or lower the amount of reserves the member banks must keep with it. This gives them either less or more funds they can lend, regulating the supply of credit in terms of current demand.

Another is to enter the government securities market and buy or sell. This, too, either builds up or decreases the amount of bank deposits which can be used for extending credit. The tighter the supply of lendable funds the higher interest rates are likely to go.

Some are betting that the Federal Reserve will do nothing for the time being. This theory is that the board will wait to see what effect the last week's twin actions—the tax cut and the British interest hike—may have on American money markets.

The tax cut's effects could be to set off a business expansion and a consumer buying spree that would, in time, inflate prices and boom the demand for easy credit. Many think it will not work that way at all, but have only a gradual and healthy effect. In that case the increased demand for credit would lead naturally to slowing rising interest rates.

These are the present uncertainties that both Washington and Wall Street are striving to assess. The next few weeks should tell how the American economy and banking and security markets will react.

At a meeting of the Ulster County Women's Democratic Club on Tuesday, Feb. 25 at the Governor Clinton, plans for an April fashion show were discussed. Aaron Klein, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, made an impromptu visit and addressed the club, and committee reports were heard.

The county chairman, who has extended an invitation to the club to hold a future meeting at his home, briefly discussed the goals and purposes of the Ulster County Democratic Committee and the role played by the Ulster County Women's Democratic Club. Klein stressed that women will play an important part in returning President Lyndon B. Johnson to the White House.

The women's group, which is pledged to the growth of the Democratic party, also heard Klein discuss the organizational structure of the Democratic Party on the local, state and national levels.

Mrs. Donald Quick, president of the club, conducted the meeting.

In her report on the fashion show, Patricia McConnell, chairman of the event, announced the show will be given on Tuesday, April 21 at 8 p. m. in the Wiltwyck Country Club. Serving as co-chairmen will be Florence Klein and Harriet Allen Kerr, state committee woman.

Mrs. Quick also reported on the Ulster County Social Agencies meeting which she attended as a representative of the club.

At the suggestion of James McCardie, city chairman, and acted upon the membership, a committee was appointed by the president to serve in an advisory capacity. The committee will deal solely with issues and problems within the City of Kingston. Meat for the Freezer
Home freezers were introduced to American families about 1940. By 1950 about 5 per cent of the families had home freezers. They have grown steadily in popularity since that time. About one family in 5 in the United States owned a home freezer by 1960. New York State families have lagged behind the national rate in ownership. According to the Bureau of Census housing survey of 1960, about one family in 10 in New York State had a home freezer in that year. Since that time the proportion owning home freezers has probably increased slightly.

Louise M. Kakarog, assistant home demonstration agent. Food buying for freezers represents a significant market for food. In addition to freezers owned by families, many restaurants and institutions have considerable freezer storage space. Then, too, many of the newer home refrigerators have separate refrigerator freezing compartments that approximate the storage temperature of home freezers. Skill and knowledge are required to buy food and manage freezer storage wisely.

Meats are one of the popular items stored in home freezers as meats are used often by the family. Red meats and poultry meats make up about one-third of the average American family's food dollar. Meats are high-value-per-pound foods. And since home freezers cost money to operate, you may wish to reserve storage space for these higher value foods. Meats fluctuate in price from season to season so the possibility of saving money is enhanced when the freezer is stocked with meat during the low price period.

Freezer owners may wish to consider stocking their freezers in the near future with three main meats. Those to consider include beef, pork, and broilers.

Beef—Beef is the chief meat in the diet of Americans who have exhibited a strong preference for it during the past decade. Supplies of beef, particularly of the better grades and qualities, have increased along with the demand. During the past year production of top quality beef has been heavy. Prices will probably start to increase in the late spring or early summer. Though no sharp increases are expected in prices, owners may wish to consider stocking freezers soon.

Pork—Pork is the second leading meat purchased by American families. Last fall's crop of pigs, now coming to market, was 4 per cent less than the previous year. Fewer hogs will be marketed this spring than a year ago. The outlook is for rising pork prices, probably beginning late this month or next month. Freezer owners should consider buying for storage soon.

Broilers—Weekly broiler marketings are currently running well above last year's extra large marketings. Typically, broiler prices begin to rise in the spring. It may be possible to purchase an entire beef or pork carcass. If so, compare carcass costs of the same cuts purchased at retail or special prices. Include all costs, such as cutting and trimming. Some markets offer

Robert Bolt's Play Is Given Here; Top Draw Drama, Acting

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

"If you want to make trouble, make sure it's the right kind of trouble..." This is only one of countless "tongue-in-cheek" philosophical pearls dropped last night during the performance of MAN FOR ALL SEASONS, a top dramatic play written by Robert Bolt.

The play was given at the Community Theatre under the sponsorship of the Kingston Newspaper Guild.

The audience was treated to a dramatic play which I would readily put in the category of "contemporary classics." A play of great depth, it was based upon the historical facts surrounding the life of Sir Thomas More, a key figure in England, who was beheaded because he would not betray the courage of his own convictions—a type of man hard to find in these days of conformity.

Whether or not you agree with the hard fast principles for which More died, whether or not you find yourself on either side of the religious argument, one thing everyone must agree with is that it was refreshing to watch a truly professional group operate.

And I found myself not so much involved with a religious issue, as with a message about the self-centered, neurotic life of today's man. There is very little difference between the days of Sir Thomas More and our own. How many hats do each of us wear—how truly honest are we toward our fellow-man? The play, if anything, should provoke self-analysis.

I was keenly aware that a certain percentage would not appreciate either the dramatic impact of the play or its message. We are, after all, all different and like different things. And sometimes the process of thinking can be too ponderous, particularly if we are not in a mood for it.

To aid those planning to see the play, several articles about its historical background were published in The Freeman as a public service. We hope you saw them.

The Kingston Newspaper Guild is proud indeed to have offered this jewel of theatrical drama to the public. The fact that it was so well supported by the citizenry of the area is proof of its merit.

We The Women Not Tuned-in, Poor Dears

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Women whose husbands are nervous or who suffer from ulcers were recently advised by a physician not to turn on a vacuum cleaner or washing machine until the husband is out of the house.

Such home noises, the doctor claims, will aggravate the husband's tensions.

What the doctor didn't explain, and what many a wife has tried in vain to figure out, is why the noises that bother a man are those that come from machinery doing a woman's work.

Husbands are forever talking about the "awful racket" made by dishwashers, clothes washers, vacuum cleaners, floor polishers—and such. The sound of machinery doing her chores is music to a woman's ears—but it seems to get on the nerves of most husbands.

However, the same man who thinks a dishwasher makes an intolerable noise doesn't object in the slightest to the high-pitched whine of a power saw in his home work shop.

The sound of an outboard motor breaking the quiet of a peaceful lake doesn't upset him at all, if it is his boat that is kicking up the fuss.

The sound of powered yard tools isn't music by any means, but men don't seem to think it is annoying enough to prefer to mow and clip and edge with hand tools.

If the machinery making a noise is busily doing woman's work, the noise is intolerable to a man's sensitive nervous system. If the screeches and whines come from a piece of equipment doing a man's work, it doesn't seem to bother him at all. Strange, isn't it?

HIGH FINANCE WHEN WOMEN DINE TOGETHER

Q: When a group of women dine out together, how is the payment of the bill handled tactfully when only one check is presented?

A: Women so seldom are able to separate a check into several parts with grace and speed that the cartoon of feminine heads clustered about the waiter's table captioned, "Now let's see, Ethel you had the tomato surprise," is familiar to all. One way to avoid such a scene is to appoint one in the group treasurer and each to give her the same amount of money beforehand, and then she pays the bill and returns to each the change that is due her.

When The Doctor Leaves
Q: My mother is a semi-invalid and our family doctor comes in once a month to see her. I would like to know if it is necessary for me to see him to the door when he leaves?

A: Yes, it is courteous to see him to the door.

Mrs. Ben Webster Is Chairman For Annual Red Cross Drive

The Red Cross flag is fluttering proudly over the Village Green, post office and town hall, symbolic of the opening of the annual Red Cross fund campaign in Woodstock township.

The chairman for the Woodstock township drive this year is Mrs. Ben L. Webster, who announced that Woodstock's quota this year is $141,100.

In launching the fund campaign, Mrs. Webster said that President Johnson's proclamation Monday triggered the annual campaign when the Red Cross goes to the American people for funds to carry on its vital services. The campaign will last for the whole month of March.

"The funds contributed," said Mrs. Webster, "will enable the Red Cross to carry on its many humanitarian services in Woodstock township and across the world. They will provide help to servicemen and families, help to expand blood programs, supply emergency help and rehabilitation to victims of fires and disasters, step up health and safety training programs and help recruit and train more volunteers."

Need Volunteers

Numerous volunteers now being recruited by Mrs. Webster will visit everyone in the hamlets of Woodstock, Wittenberg, Shady, Willow, Lake Hill and Mt. Tremper to ask for their contributions. Mrs. Webster urged that all citizens greet the solicitors with a smile.

"And," she added, "no contribution is too small." Contributions may also be sent by mail to Mrs. Ben L. Webster, Byrdcliffe, Woodstock, N. Y. An effort will be made to reach every family unit and adult in the township, she said. A weekly progress report will be made.

One of the early highlights of the drive is the so-called "One Percenters." These are persons who pledge to contribute one percent of the Woodstock goal—or $141.1 each. Some of these pledges already are on hand. Mrs. Webster said.

Names of volunteer district leaders and workers will be announced next week. In the meantime, get that smile ready.

Bard's Appeal For Composers

Editor's Note: This is second part of comments by H. A. Schimmerling on the popularity of Shakespeare's works among the world's composers.

The Czech composer, J. B. Foerster, is one of 18 who used "Julius Caesar." There are 29 "King Lear" compositions and fifteen "Measure for Measure." Fourteen titles refer to "Much Ado About Nothing" and, believe it or not, 60 to "Twelfth Night," among them an unfinished opera "Viola" by Smetana, one song by Haydn and some music by Holst and Widor.

Of course, we know of Verdi's opera "Macbeth," perhaps also Ernest Bloch's opera of the same name. Piano students often play the "Watchman's Song." We know the tone poem "Macbeth" by Richard Strauss, but we hardly know the Macbeth music of Brull, Khatchaturian, Nilhaud and 45 others. Two Polish composers, Moniuszko and Rathaus, and many more wrote 33 compositions based upon "The Merchant of Venice." Perhaps the best is Foerster's opera "Jessica." The best known of the 18 works inspired by the "Merry Wives of Windsor" are the two operas by Nicolai and Verdi (Falstaff). There are about 30 "Midsummer Night's Dream" compositions with the immortal Mendelssohn music and Weber's Oberon leading the impressive list which also contains some good music by the Austrian Krenek and an operetta by Suppe.

Rossini-Verdi Also

Both Rossini and Verdi wrote an opera Othello, Dvorak an overture, but there are still about 20 more Othello compositions. Also the "Taming of the Shrew" accounts for about 20 works, among them the lovely opera by Gotz. Goldmark with his opera was one of 25 who used "Winter Tale" and there are about 55 "Romeo and Juliet" compositions. Among them are at least nine operas by Bellini, Gounod, Malipiero, Morales, Steibelt, Sturtmeister, Vaccai, Zandonai, and Zingarelli; the famous Tchaikovsky overture, the Prokofiev ballet, the exciting Berlioz choral symphony, the scenic oratorio by the German modernist Boris Blacher and many more.

There are four titles referring to "Coriolanus": 23 to "Cymbeline"; 35 to the three Henry dramas and 65 Hamlet titles represented by such composers as Thomas, Tchaikovsky, Berlioz, Honegger, Brahms, Moyses, Haydn, MacDowell and others. And yet the list is not finished without the large number of settings of single songs, sonnets, etc., by composers from Purcell to Schubert, from Bishop to Shostakovich.

Next Blood Bank Drawing, May 14

The date for the next Blood Bank Drawing in Woodstock will be Thursday, May 14, at St. Gregory's parish hall in Woodstock, it was announced at the February meeting of the Town of Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee. Details will be announced at a later date.

The public health nursing committee's loan closet is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from the citizens of the Woodstock only and they also have received generous gifts of hospital beds, wheelchairs, crutches and other items from these citizens and they want it to be known that they do not have any connection whatever with these magazine sales, a committee statement said.

The statement added that: "this service of the public health committee's loan closet is entirely free of charge to anyone and everyone in Woodstock township and they want it known they will gladly help anyone to the best of their ability."

The meeting was well attended.

Rochester Town Planners Hear County Report

A report on County Planning Board session held Feb. 17 was presented by John Scribano, chairman of Town of Rochester Planning Board at last week's meeting held in Accord Fire Hall.

Rules of procedure for the Town of Rochester Planning Board, adopted on Feb. 12 were discussed. It was reported that these rules, governing the duties, powers and procedures and based upon the original resolution of the Town Board in establishing the Planning Board on Aug. 21, 1962, were not clearly understood by the residents.

Chairman Scribano said the resolution creating the planning board would be published at a later date in simplified form to permit a better understanding of the functions of the board.

Samuel Reavin was unanimously reelected vice chairman and Winston Van Kleeck was named secretary.

It was decided that as soon as the Planning Board had a rough draft ready of its proposed subdivision regulations for the township, it would meet with the Town Board.

Also attending the meeting were Aaron Bell, Gerard DeWitt, Angela Pellicane.

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body!

Newburgh Free Academy Dominates All-DUSO Cage Team

Three Goldies Selected; Brown Is Best Player

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

To the surprise of practically nobody, Newburgh Free Academy dominates this year's All-DUSO team and Poughkeepsie's Henry Brown is the circuit's "Player of the Year."

Members of the DUSO Sports-writers and Broadcasters Assn., meeting yesterday at the Park Lane Restaurant, Port Jervis, named Charles Johnson, Bob Thomas and Bob Scott of the league champions to the first squad and Wayne Conine to the second team.

Joining the Newburgh trio on the first team are Brown, the Poughkeepsie ace and Ty Sands of Monticello.

Larry Armstead, Kingston High's scintillating sophomore, was awarded a berth on the second team. Others on that quintet, in addition to Conine, are Tom Parker, Poughkeepsie; Dave Brownhill, Monticello and Lou Meindertsma, Middletown.

Four of the first team selections were unanimous. Scott, the only junior on the team (the others are seniors) beat Parker for the final berth.

There was a close contest for the final two berths on the second team with Conine and Meindertsma finishing ahead of Kingston's Jim Plunkett.

Leading Scorer
The choice of Brown as the top player in the circuit was a foregone conclusion since the beginning of the season. He carried Poughkeepsie to a second place finish in the race almost all by himself. Brown topped the league in scoring.

Sands was the key of the Monticello attack while Johnson aided Newburgh with some key rebounding and scoring. Thomas and Scott brought the ball up court for the Goldies and consistently hit in double figures. Three of the players—Brown, Sands and Thomas—are repeaters on the first team. Scott moves up from the second team.

Tyro 4s Win Game

St. Mary's Tyro No. 4 cagers edged Albany Boys Club 7 to 6, with three players—Michaels, Palladino and Flynn—each scoring two points for the winners. Johnson led Albany with four points.

3rd Straight Time

Joe Gaspard Is Named 'Coach of the Year'

Joe Gaspard, the quiet but efficient basketball coach at Newburgh Free Academy, has been named the DUSO league's "Coach of the Year" for a third straight time.

The popular NFA mentor, who came to the Hill City school after a successful career at Chester in Orange County and at Amenia in Dutchess County, won this year's award over Kingston's Jack Gilligan and Sam J. Kallach of Poughkeepsie.

Gaspard piloted Newburgh to an 11-1 record in the league and to a 15-3 mark for the season. Of the three setbacks, two were by two points (to Poughkeepsie and Beacon).

Gilligan received mention for piloting the locals to a third place finish in the league, despite the fact he had three sophomores in the starting lineup for most of the second half of the campaign.

Kallach was cited for his job in coaching Poughkeepsie to a second place finish. Aside from Brown and Parker, the Pioneer mentor didn't have much talent on the club.

Gaspard's selection gives Newburgh coaches a sweep of honors during the past year. George Balcanoff won the baseball award and Charles (Rip) Fornal was voted the top coach in football.

St. Louis Downs Frisco, 111-102

"The Warriors aren't in by any means yet, and they know it," says St. Louis Hawks Coach Harry Gallatin.

The Hawks, with nine regular-season National Basketball Association games left, moved within 2 1/2 games of San Francisco, the Western Division leaders, by defeating the Warriors 111-102 Monday.

"The next two days off will help us a lot," commented Coach Alex Hannum, whose Warriors have eight games remaining, including a clash on Thursday in San Francisco against the Hawks.

The Warriors showed the effects of five games in five different cities on five consecutive nights. St. Louis outscored San Francisco 33-21 in the last quarter.

Billiard Aces Clash Wednesday

The two top ranking players in the Buster Ferraro Billiard Classic — Charlie Sangaline and Billy Costello — clash headon in Wednesday night's round at the Golden Cue.

Sangaline, long time city champion, is undefeated, while Costello was an upset victim at the hands of Jim Burns. Costello, however, has been the tournament's most consistent high run producer.

Lassiter Opens Title Defense With 150-37 Win

Hotel Commodore, N. Y. — Defending champion Luther Lassiter of Elizabeth City, N. C., shook off a rusty start and came on to defeat Jack Colavita of Newark, 150-37, in the opening round of the 1964 World Pocket Billiard championships.

Lassiter, defending champion seeking his 5th title, got the feel of the table with a run of 57 and breezed to victory. Irving Crane of Rochester crushed Lou Butera of Pittston, Pa., 150 to 19, in four innings. Crane, four time champion, took an early lead with a run of 74 and went out with an unfinished string of 52.

Frank McGowan of Newark defeated Verne Peterson, California, 150-84 in 22 innings. McGowan had high run of 54.

In the most exciting match of the first round, Art Cranfield of Syracuse, a southpaw, defeated Michael Eufemia another lefty, 150 to 105 with an unfinished string of 87. Leading by 87 balls, Eufemia, holder of the world's record run of 371, missed a long shot and Cranston moved in for the kill.

The tournament opened Monday at the Commodore and each player will compete in afternoon and night matches until next Sunday.

Signs With Mets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Joe Christopher, who signed his 1964 New York Mets baseball contract Monday, joined the club too late to figure in Manager Casey Stengel's Mexican invasion plans.

Christopher, whose agreement to terms completed the Mets' roster, didn't make the 22-man squad named for next weekend's three-game south-of-the-border jaunt.

Old Dutch Cagers Upset Hurley 5 In Senior Loop

Old Dutch Church upset Hurley Reformed, 38-35, despite a 20-2 third quarter deficit in the Protestant Church Senior basketball league. A 16-5 edge in the final period did the trick for Old Dutch.

In other games, Port Ewen Methodist romped over Redeemer Lutheran, 52-27, and Fair Street Reformed edged Church of Comforter, 48-41.

Phil Maines led all scorers with 21 points. Dan Potter meshed 18. Jay Maynard 15 and Ed Cheeley 14, all for Port Ewen. Ken Nesland and Robert Nesland scored 11 and 10, respectively, for Redeemers.

Other high scorers were: W. Palen 17, E. Burroughs 12, Gary Ballou 10, Brian Findholt 11, Nick LeFever 10, Dan Tompkins and Ken Hopper 11 each; Ted Brown 12 and J. Brown 10.

Speaking of Sports

The Early Birds Are Stirring

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

If the weatherman has given you that old birdies and bogies feeling the past couple days, here are a few warmup tidbits for the 1964 season: Charles J. (Jimmy) Turk Turk recently played the par-63 Moorings Country Club at Naples in one-over 64. He slipped one over on the front nine with 33 and matched regulation figures on the back nine. That gives him a flying start over even such as George (Lonesome) Cosenza, who was "hitting a few" the other day.

Golf Show — May 4th

Northeastern PGA golfers have set May 4th as the date for the annual Golf Show and Dinner at the Schine Tey Eyck in Albany.

And, according to secretary John Gaudes the speaker will be a "really big one." . . . The USGA and the NCAA have joined in urging manufacturers and distributors of golf equipment and golf clothing to guard against making available their wares to amateur golfers without payment of current market prices. The two groups has issued a reminder that players involved will forfeit their amateur status under Rules of both groups if there are confirmed violations . . .

In Nation's Capital

The finishing hole at the Congressional Country Club in Washington, where the 1964 United States Open will be played, is one of the finest in the world. A water hole, it is so situated that approximately 20,000 persons can watch the golfers making their final shots of the round. . . . Increased handicap stroke allowance for golfers in four-ball play have been adopted by the United States Golf Association. Players may now use 100 percent of the difference between their handicaps and that of the low-handicapped player in four-ball match play on a better-ball basis. In all other four-ball play they will use full handicaps. Heretofore, the allowance in most forms of such play has been 85 percent.

The reason for the change, says the USGA, lies in the fact that a player's actual handicap is 80 percent plus one stroke of the average of the lowest 10 of his last 25 handicap differentials. Thus, to reduce the handicap again through an 85 percent allowance was found generally inequitable for the higher handicapped players in a given event.

Two minor additional amendments have been made as follows: (1) In a 2-points-per-hole four-ball match play, a "best ball" basis has been substituted for the little-used "best and second best" style; (2) In mixed four-ball play, men and women will receive 100 percent of their handicaps and take strokes as assigned on their respective score cards; they will play from their respective teeing grounds.

Best Weekend Player

A Bermuda fruit and vegetable peddler may be golf's best weekend player. Louis Moniz, 42, sells his wares from a cart on the streets of Hamilton, Bermuda, six days a week, but on Sundays when he hauls out his golf clubs he is a champion. In 1963 he won the Bermuda Amateur, which attracted a respectable field from the United States and Canada. A 2-handicapper, Moniz does not worry about his game. "I just like to hit the ball," he says. "If you miss a shot, so what? It's just a game."

Miami, St. Joseph's Lured by NIT

Kansas State Cinches Big 8

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas State, Miami and St. Joseph's have joined the "ins," Wichita became a large "maybe," Ohio State a "could be" and whatever happened to Kentucky?

Miami, Fla., and St. Joseph's Pa., accepted invitations Monday to the National Invitation Tournament, the seventh and eighth teams in the 12-team bracket. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight basketball title and the berth. Wichita clinched a share of the Missouri Valley Conference lead, which also entails an NCAA tournament spot. And Ohio State kept its hopes alive.

UCLA, top-ranked in the nation, rolled on unbeaten, pushing its mark to 25-0 with an 87-57 rout of California.

But whatever happened to Kentucky? It appears that Coach Adolph Rupp's nationally third-ranked heroes got caught looking the other way. St. Louis, an all-around, shocked the Wildcats 67-60 in Kentucky's final game of the regular season.

First Home Loss

It was Kentucky's first loss of the season on its home court and reduced the Southeastern Conference champions over-all record to 21-4. The St. Louis zone limited Kentucky's Cotton Nash to two field goals until he broke through in the last two minutes after the game was out of reach.

Kansas State, meanwhile, edged Oklahoma State 63-59 in overtime and clinched its seventh Big Eight title in nine years with the help of Kansas, which eliminated runner-up Colorado 73-71 in overtime. Wichita, ranked fifth in the nation, whipped North Texas State 90-83 and tied idle Drake for the Missouri Valley top spot each with 10-2 and the regular season completed. They'll meet Friday in a playoff game to determine the league's NCAA representative.

Bradds Scores 34

All America Gary Bradds helped keep Ohio State in the Big Ten picture, leading the Buckeyes to an 86-75 triumph over Illinois. Bradds tossed in 34 points in Ohio State's fifth straight league triumph. It put the Buckeyes into the top spot with an 11-2 record but they'll need help to make it to the NCAA tourney.

Mighty Michigan, ranked second in the nation, has a 10-2 conference mark with two games to go. Ohio State has only one remaining. If they end in a tie, Michigan gets the tourney spot since the Wolverines haven't been in the tourney in 16 years and Ohio State made it two years ago.

Kansas State pushed its overall record to 18-5 and 10-2 in the league with the triumph over Oklahoma State, its ninth straight and fourth in overtime. The loss spoiled Oklahoma State's bid for Coach Henry Iba's 700th coaching victory.

In other major action, Stanford romped over Washington State 81-55. Idaho beat Montana 64-51. Minnesota whipped Wisconsin 105-96 and Iowa upset Purdue 81-74.

May Imperil Pennant

Bavasi and Koufax Feuding And Dodgers Don't Like It

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The contract battle between star pitcher Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers is over but the sears may linger for some time — perhaps long enough to damage the Dodgers' chances for a second successive pennant.

There is a distinct coolness between Koufax and Dodger General Manager Buzz Bavasi, whom the brilliant southpaw accused Monday of deliberately casting him in the villain's role, forcing Sandy to accept a $70,000 contract for 1964.

"I've been hurt by people who I thought were my friends," said Koufax. "I was maneuvered into a corner where I was forced to agree to their terms or else be regarded as a greedy, no-good bum. When I met with Bavasi the last time I knew I had to sign no matter what they offered."

Charges Press Plant

"They (the Dodgers) planted a story in a newspaper that I would quit if I did not get $90,000 plus a bonus based on attendance and a cut from pay television. The fact of the matter is I asked for just a few thousand dollars over what I finally agreed to. The Dodgers know this but all the people who had read the headlines do not. No matter what happens now, I'm marked as the greedy, most selfish guy in the world."

Bavasi, still in Los Angeles, reportedly is "fit to be tied" by Koufax' claim and a source close to the Dodger front office said the tugging aerial maneuver planned to fly to Vero Beach Wednesday to have it out with his star pitcher.

Koufax, who received $32,000 last year for winning 25 games and adding two more in the Dodgers' four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees, has not yet actually signed his 1964 contract. His agreement so far is an oral one.

Appears Haggard

Sandy appeared worn and haggard as he discussed his front office troubles with newspapermen.

"A couple of years ago they chastised me for what they said was negotiating through the newspapers," said Koufax. "But it's all right for them to do it. I guess whoever gets to the papers first wins the battle."

"I agreed to terms but I told Bavasi I was unhappy. Not so much at the terms of the contract but because of the way they had pushed me into a corner."

"I'm no longer angry, but hurt. I haven't been able to sleep ever since this happened. Whenever I talk about it, my voice starts shaking and I become upset. I spoke for an hour and a half with Mr. O'Malley (club president Walter O'Malley) and I probably said some things I shouldn't have, but I wanted him to know how strongly I felt about it. I want everybody to know the truth."

Michigan Replaces Kentucky

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's Wolverines moved into the runner-up position behind all-conquering UCLA in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll today.

UCLA piled up 398 points on 38 votes for first place and two for second from the 40 regional selectors participating in the next-to-last poll of the season. Duke and Oregon State collected the remaining first place votes. The final poll will be taken next week.

Michigan switched places with Kentucky's Wildcats. The Wolverines had 322 points and Kentucky 300 on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc. The balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

UCLA lifted its record to 24-0 last week by defeating Washington and Washington State. Michigan beat Illinois for a 19-3 mark while Kentucky lost its third game of the campaign, 65-59 to Alabama, and then whipped Tennessee 42-38. The Wildcats have won 21.

Hold Same Positions

Duke, Wichita and Oregon State followed Kentucky, holding their positions in the same order as last week. However, Davidson's 81-82 setback by Virginia military resulted in a shuffle in the final four places in the Top Ten. The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. UCLA (38)	398
2. Michigan	322
3. Kentucky	300

5. Wichita	266
6. Oregon State (1)	263
7. Villanova	125
8. DePaul	94

Tucson Receives Two-Inch Snow — First Since 1958

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A potent storm rumbled through the Southwest today, plunging a seven-state area with snow, plummeting temperatures and strong winds.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued hazardous conditions for motorists and stockmen.

In the Southeast, another storm zipped along the Atlantic Coast, soaking the area from northwestern Florida to the Carolinas with drenching rain.

The southwestern storm hit portions of Utah, Arizona, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Kansas.

Tucson, Ariz., received a 2-inch snowfall in two hours Monday night, where the snowfall annually averages 1.1 inches. It was the first measurable snowfall since 1958. Some parts of the city measured up to 3 inches.

Heavy snows were welcomed in northern Arizona, where an unusually dry winter has threatened the area with water shortages.

Canvass for Park Petition to Reach Peak on Weekend

Petitioning for a locally supported recreation park in Barclay Heights has been proceeding smoothly, and Jaycee Canvasser Robert Galpin has indicated that canvassing shall reach its peak this coming weekend.

The proposed park shall, when approved, service an area comprised of approximately 650 residences and 15 business locations with a total assessed valuation of 1.3 millions of dollars. These properties have been divided into small groups with each group assigned to a Jaycee or his representative. Director Galpin has stated that current planning still projects a completed canvass by March 15.

Any property owner in the park district not contacted by March 15 is encouraged to call Galpin in Windemere and arrangements shall be made for a Jaycee to call with a petition.

As of this date extensive canvassing has not been started because only a limited number of information packets concerning the proposed park district have been available. Director Galpin has stated that each Jaycee shall have his individual information packet by this weekend.

Jaycee President George Leombruno requests each resident in the proposed recreation park district extend a warm welcome to canvassers regardless of personal feelings pertaining to the petition. President Leombruno indicated that many of the canvassers may not even be residents of the proposed park district. He stated this is possible since the recreation park is a Jaycee project backed by the entire Jaycee Organization.

The petition asks for the establishment of a recreation park district embracing most of Barclay Heights and estimated to cost $1.56 per $1,000 of assessed valuation on all property within the bounds of the proposed district.

The proposed district includes all lands within an area bounded on the north by the Saugerties Village line, on the east by the Hudson River, on the south by a line perpendicular to Routes 9W and 32 extending from the Esopus Creek to the river, and on the west by the creek.

Property owners of more than 50 per cent of the assessed valuation of the proposed district must sign the petition before it can be presented to Saugerties Town Board and a public hearing date scheduled.

The Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce shall underwrite the development of a softball diamond including a permanent type backstop on a designated site within the recreation park area.

Current status of the Jaycee commitment is the following: The tree clearing of the land necessary for the ball field was almost completed during the fall of 1963. The surveying and actual staking of the field was also completed.

This year's efforts by the Jaycees shall provide the completed ball diamond and a designated parking area. The remainder of the tree clearing, rough grading and erection of the backstop are scheduled for the spring and summer of this year.

LWV Delegation Attend Session Of Legislature

Members of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties have just returned from Albany where they witnessed the Legislature in action and heard an address by Governor Rockefeller. Local Leaguers who attended the two-day legislative conference were Mrs. Clyde Knauer, president; Mrs. Charles Steele and Mrs. Charles Rice, board members.

On Monday afternoon in Chancellor's Hall they were among 300 women briefed by chairmen of the League's state program items: Election Laws, Education, Apportionment, and the Judiciary. After the Governor's address the women attended a session of the Assembly. In the evening their crowded schedule included a League dinner, visits to legislators in their offices, the Senate session, and a Coffee Hour for legislative leaders and members of committees in whose work the League is particularly interested.

The League members from this area had an appointment with Sen. E. Ogden Bush from this district, Monday night but apparently the press of important business kept the Senator from keeping this appointment.

Tuesday morning the women were up early for a briefing by Dr. Robert S. Herman of the Budget Division on the budgetary process. They then heard a colloquy among two legislators, Senator George R. Metcalf and Assemblyman William F. Passanante; a newspaperman, Stan Hinden, Political Editor of Newsday, and Mrs. George Ames, a lawyer and member of the League's State Board, on the subject, "However Does A Bill Become A Law?"

Mrs. Knauer, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Rice are preparing flyers on their experiences and these will be distributed at the next general meeting.

Wednesday, March 11, 8 p. m. at the Reformed Church Chapel, John Street, The Know Your Town Committee will present a program during the first half of the meeting and the second half will be conducted by the State CR committee chairman, Mrs. Roy Ohno.

The topic under discussion will be the Judiciary. Members of the CR committee will present material concerning the Family Court, adoptions, and the District Courts. After the program a discussion period will follow as the League will try to reach a consensus on this question.

DAR Meeting
Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution meets Wednesday 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Marchant, Main Street. Special guests will be Miss Phyllis McLaughlin, this year's DAR good citizen and the winners of the American History Month essay contest. Those attending will bring dress material for the girls homemaking committee.

High Woods Sportsmen
High Woods Sportsmen's Club meets Thursday 8 p. m. at the clubhouse, Church Street, High Woods. Plans will be outlined for a St. Patrick's dance on Saturday, March 14 at the clubhouse.

Public Health Nursing
The February meeting of the Saugerties Public Health Nursing Committee was held at the home of Mrs. Ann McCormick. Clinic assignments were made for March. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Vi Ollinger on March 26.

27 Inspections Are Reported at Shopping Plaza

Plumbing Inspector Charles J. Kelly told The Freeman today that due to the many questions he is being asked concerning regulations at the new Uptown Shopper's Plaza, he is making public the following report:

Kelly stated that a final inspection of all plumbing and drainage at the Britt Department Store has been made and fully complies with the City Plumbing Code. All toilet room fixtures (both public and private), drinking fountains, sinks and miscellaneous plumbing fixtures in all of the stores are equipped with modern sanitary plumbing features.

The inspector said that all refrigerated food cases and refrigerating equipment at the new Grand Union Store is also of the very latest design. There have been 27 plumbing inspections at the Shopper's Plaza, and all soil, waste and vent piping, gas and water piping, and fixtures above ground, and all house drains, main sewer, sewer pumps and water mains below ground, have been water tested under pressure and found to be water tight and free of defects.

"There is no discharge of sewage into the Esopus Creek," Kelly said. "All sewage wastes discharges from the fixtures to the house drain and flows by gravity through the main sewer to a sanitary sewage receiving vault where two high pressure pumps operating at two different water levels pump the sewage up to Clinton Avenue where it discharges into the city sewer, and all storm water from the parking lot and roofs of all buildings discharge into a storm drainage system and flow by gravity to the Esopus Creek."

Kelly stated that all buildings are heated by gas fired forced hot air heating systems, are fully air conditioned, and have the latest fire fighting and sprinkling equipment.
